Instructions in brass rubbings set

A brass rubbing workshop will begin at 10 a.m. March 22 in Farmington Community Center.

History lovers and craft enthusiasts will reproduce copies of English brass castings of original 13-17th century works.

About 30 castings will be available. Students may choose historic figures, heraldic designs, knights and royalty figures from ancient European castles, or animals.

Instruction in rubbing technique, choice of paper, color mixing and textural effects will be included in the $15 workshop. The price includes a choice of one rubbing. A fee will be charged for additional rubbings.

Instructor Margarita Ibarluzia studied abroad, visiting castles, monasteries and churches.

'Chapter Two'

Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" is the play that accompanies dinner on Fridays and Saturdays in Bambi's Welcome Mat, Allen Park. The Komedy Players Dinner Theatre production of the mixture of laughter and heartache stars Judi Charters (at left) and Jan Salisbury. Mrs. Salibury and her husband, Bill, were regulars on the Farmington Community Players stage before the Farmington Hills couple opened up the Allen Park dinner theatre last fall. Reservations are taken by calling the box office, 661-1383.

Easter brunch carries international flavor

Judy Antishin and Barbara Dermody combine their cooking expertise for their fourth-annual Easter Brunch at 10 a.m. Friday, March 26, in Farmington Community Center.

The popular hostessess will prepare a continental brunch for gourmands, novice cooks and hungry participants for $9.

The duo will provide a four-course brunch with a variety of tastes for the worldly palate.

The menu will include a South American version of sangria containing a special blend of ingredients and will be served as an appetizer. A salad with an interesting combination of raw foods and unusual seasonings is the Mediterranean countries' contribution to this continental feast. The entree will be from south of the border and a surprise dessert will complete the brunch.

Cooking for large groups has become second nature to the two. Participants in their classes know that learning is not the only reward when attending their classes. Tasting and take-home recipes are eagerly awaited.

Early registration is advised for this popular event. Tables can be reserved for four, eight or 10 with early registration. The center is located at 24705 Farmington Road.
