

roll call report

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes March 18-24.

HOUSE

FDR MEMORIAL — By a vote of 288-107, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill that is the first step toward creating a "living memorial" to President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga. The federal unit would include a rehabilitative center utilizing the healing spring water that drew Roosevelt, a polo victim, to Warm Springs. The bill authorizes a study of the FDR memorial expected to cost $100,000 to $150,000.

Members voting "yea" favored creating the FDR memorial at Warm Springs.
Reps David Bonior, D-Mount Clemens, William Ford, D-Taylor, William Brodhead, D-Detroit, James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge, and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham voted "yea."

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, did not vote.

MONEY

— The House passed, 299-103, a "continuing resolution" appropriating money to fund the government for the remainder of the fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30. The stopgap funding is needed because the House and Senate have failed to enact most of the regular appropriations bills for fiscal 1982. Debate centered on claims that continuing resolutions abuse the budget process. Critics said stopgap funding permits committees to shirk their fiscal responsibilities and to avoid confronting tough issues like busing, abortion and budget-cutting. The bill was sent to the Senate.

Supporter Silvio Conte, R-Mass., said it was necessary for Congress to set definite spending levels for the next six months. "If we cannot continue... in an orderly procedure, at least let us let the rest of the country go on in an orderly procedure," he said.

Opponent J.J. Pickle, D-Tex., said "we are here to continue continuing our (previous) continuing resolution. At what point do we say 'stop the merry-go-round?'"

Members voting yeas favored stopgap funding through Sept. 30.

Bonior, Ford and Blanchard voted "yea." Pursell and Broomfield voted "nay."

SENATE

CONGRESSIONAL VETO — By a vote of 69-25, the Senate adopted an amendment empowering Congress to void an executive branch regulation if simple majorities in the House and Senate vote to kill the regulation. The legislative veto could be used against virtually all federal agencies except the Defense Department and the Internal Revenue Service. It was attached to a regulatory reform bill that was headed for final passage and the House.

Senators voting "yea" favored the amendment strengthening Congress' power to counter executive branch regulations it doesn't like.

Levin, D, voted "yea." Democratic Sen. Don Riegle did not vote.

ALLOCATING OIL — By a vote of 58-36, the Senate failed to override President Reagan's veto of a bill giving him standby powers to allocate oil supplies and set prices in the event the nation again runs perilously low on oil supplies. To override the veto, two-thirds of those senators voting (63) had to vote "yea." The veto stands; a House vote is not required.

Senators voting "nay" agreed with the president's veto of the bill. Levin and Riegle voted "yea."
