

'Singing Your Own Song' is theme for workshop

The second annual Women's Festival is scheduled for Saturday, May 8 at University of Michigan-DeARBorn. "Success: Singing Your Own Song" is the theme for the all-day talks and workshops. It will offer women and men an opportunity to gather and exchange information on issues including financial planning, career charting, career skills, divorce and parenting.

During the lunch period, consultants in community information booths will be available to discuss personal, financial and professional topics. Keynote speaker will be Jeanie Joya Cochran, a human development consultant from Minnesota who owns her own business and has been recognized professionally as an "innovative educator."

The festival begins at 8 a.m. and closes at 3:30 p.m. Pre-registration is essential for those who wish to attend. Registrations must be postmarked no later than April 23. No written confirmation will be sent prior to the festival. The fee is $12.50 and includes lunch. For details, call Janet Jasenak-McCarthy or Leah Long at 593-5353. The festival will feature a morning and afternoon main session, two selections from 29 workshops, a picnic lunch, information booths and door prizes. The festival is sponsored by the U of M-DeARBorn Commission for Women and the Women's Center. U of M-DeARBorn is located at 4901 Evergreen Road between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue.

Tour group to visit Detroit landmarks

A bus will leave Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge parking lot at 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 28, for Farmington Community Center's ABC Spring Outing.

A designates the first stop on the tour, DuMouchelle's Art Galleries. B is for the lunch stop, and C for a visit to Pewabic Pottery.

A $15 fee includes round-trip transportation and guided tours of both the Detroit landmarks. DuMouchelle's is an historic auction house. Visitors will learn about the DuMouchelle family, their gallery and the history of the facility, as well as see the art treasures housed there waiting for the next auction and the highest bidder.

The break for lunch will be in Bricktown, within walking distance of DuMouchelle's. Tourists are on their own to choose among Bricktown's many eating places.

Tourists will have their own guide through Detroit's most famous ceramic studio, will view the pottery process, then have time to shop the sale of Michigan Potters Association's annual display.

The pottery offerings are said to be stacked wall to wall this year with prices that begin at $2.

The tour bus is expected to return back to the campus lot at about 3 p.m. Reservations on the bus are necessary and must be made before April 12, in the center at 24705 Farmington Road.

Nursery calls tots

Mayfair Co-op Nursery, located at 30450 Farmington Road, is now accepting applications for the fall term. Programs for 3- and 4-year-olds are offered.

Inquiries will be taken by calling the school, 526-2759, or Joanne Berres, 851-5972, who is membership chairman for the school.

Mothers involved in the co-op will be meeting for its election of officers on May 6 and at the same meeting will hear a representative from CTC (Committee for Children's Television).

It is one of the regular programs provided for members of Mayfair, who also assist with the normal tasks of running the school.

Wedding consultants talk about etiquette

Wedding consultants Carole McCarthy and Paula Kempton will come to Farmington Community Center at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 7 to talk about wedding planning and wedding etiquette.

The two have conducted classes at local department stores and are featured guests on TV and radio, and etiquette consultants to newspapers in the area.

"Traditional weddings are back," said Mrs. Kempton. "The beautiful bride is returning to tradition which means a return to etiquette. More than ever, she needs expert assistance and guidance."

Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. Kempton hold the Michigan franchise to Manners, Inc. based on books authorized by Marjabelle Young Stewart, who has served as etiquette consultant to the White House.

Cost for "Wedding Planning And Etiquette" is $7. Reservations are necessary and will be taken at the center, 24705 Farmington Road.
