Books recycled here

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) from Farmington and Farmington Hills have placed their book barrels in front of Great Scott on 13 Mile and Orchard Lake roads; A & P in the Downtown Farmington Shopping Center; and in the Kroger's at Grand River and Halsted Road. It's the beginning of AAUW's annual book recycling, asking area residents to contribute used books that will go up for sale next fall. Ellen Harper, book sale co-chairwoman for the year, is flanked by two young book donors, Alice Towey (on her left) and Jill Harper.

4 take awards of merit for service to scouting

Four area residents were given Awards of Merit for service to boys when Ottawa District of Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America hosted its annual dinner.

The awardees, Frank Schultz, Jean Cox, Mary Jean Jones, and Russ McCoy, were all cited for the work they did within the district which serves the entire southwestern section of Oakland County.

Frank Schultz is a West Bloomfield resident who has been an assistant scoutmaster for Troop 115 for six years. He has served on the Ottawa District Scout Roundtable, as unit commissioner, as a member of the Adult Leader Training Staff and an Indian Guide Chief.

Jean Cox is a Union Lake resident who has been a den leader and coach with Pack 68, a membership chairman for the Ottawa District and School Night for Cubbing chairman. She has been on the committee for Pow-Wow, Cub Day Camp, annual dinner and the Milford Cub Scout Day Camp for four years. She has been a den leader and coach with Pack 172, advancement chairman and Quad Pack Day Camp director.

Mary Jean Jones has directed the Milford Cub Scout Day Camp for four years. She has been a den leader and coach with Pack 172, advancement chairman and Quad Pack Day Camp director.

She has organized and coordinated Quad Packs for the past five years, served as director of Milford Youth Bowling League, been active in Baker Elementary School and Milford Youth Athletic Associations, and before that was a Canadian Girl Guide leader for 15 years.

Russ McCoy has been a registered scoutmaster for 18 years. He has served as scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster of Troop 160 and has been leader of a handicapped youth unit in Loom Lake Elementary School in Orchard Lake. He has served the youth in his church and by working as a committee member of the Orchard Lake Board of Education.

Livonia residents host storytellers

Linda Day will host Detroit Story League in her home for the meeting that begins at noon Saturday, May 15, at 18846 Golfview, Livonia. Her co-hostess for the day is Sue Harms, also a Livonia resident.

The league welcomes guests to sit in on the meeting, program and storytelling workshop to learn about the workings of the group by calling the hostess, 478-6339.

Storytellers for the day are Dinghy

Sharp from Union Lake, Vernis Smith from Troy, Mary Beth Hanks of Royal Oak and Beverly Racine from Redford.

The workshop, called Variations of Storytelling will be headed by Minnie Radtke from St. Clair Shores.

Members of the league respond to requests for storytelling engagement from throughout southern Michigan and work to perpetuate the ancient art.

Bob Kropel, a Farmington Hills resident, will take inquiries at 322-1756.
