High School, has been accepted at the Kansas City Medical School and will be starting his studies there in August. At Sunday's ceremonies, Walling, 21, was awarded a bachelor's degree in chemistry and biology. He is presently working as an orderly at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

The second Lumen Award winner was Sharon O'Bryan, 21, of Trenton. The daughter of Charles and Emma O'Bryan, she earned a bachelor's degree in psychology.

Diplomas were presented by the Most Rev. Thomas Gumbleton, bishop of the Detroit archdiocese. Sr. Mary Damascene, director of experiential learning, gave the invocation. Sr. Rose Marie, academic dean, presented candidates to Sr. Franceline for confer of degrees. Sr. Mary Laurina, vice president for development, introduced Hesburgh.

Andrew Brodthun, chairman of the Madonna board of trustees, presided, while Jason Tichon, music director, Temple Beth El, provided the organ accompaniment. Livonia mayor Edward McNamara, a Madonna trustee, ended the ceremonies by leading the graduates in an alumni pledge.

THE FIRST GRADUATE to receive her degree was Betty Henderson of Detroit, who made it through Madonna in a wheelchair. A cerebral palsy victim at Madonna, Henderson earned a bachelor's degree in gerontology and plans to continue her work with the handicapped at Holy Trinity Parish in Detroit.

Patricia Cousins, interpreter-coordinator for Madonna education support services, translated the speakers' words into sign language for the college's hearing-impaired graduates.

In addition to Graduation Day, Sunday was also Mother's Day and many of the graduates had children in tow. Livonia resident Margaret Nimtz Foster posed for a photographer beside her beaming five. Graduating from college will be a 1980s tradition in her household, as all of her five children are either in or just out of college.

Foster has been inching toward her bachelor's in gerontology since 1955, when she first started her college studies at Madonna. Along the way, she reared five children. She presently works as a manager for Tonquish Creek Manor, a senior citizen home in Plymouth.

"They're all so happy for me," said Foster as, clad in her black cap and gown, she took her place in the procession.

The sons of Garden City resident Thomas DeGiorgio were seated in the audience, ready to cheer daddy on. DeGiorgio said he didn't know he was more excited on his graduation day — he or his three young sons.

"The 5-year-old is just as excited as

The agency would discontinue treatment in Blumberg's facilities if the contracts were so amended.

Roberts highly doubts that possibility.
