'Pennsylvania Has Foothills' —Gabriela

Farmington High School boys take heed! Gabriela Strauss, as a second of the second of trip to Michigan:

"As we were traveling through Pennsylvania, our guide kept talking about the mountains, but those aren't mountains, they're more like footbills."

ASKED if she planned to ski this winter, she said her Amer-ican father skis, but that every-thing in this area is so flat, she can't imagine where you could.

NEW STUDENT — Gabriela Strauss will be attending Farmington High School this year as an exchange student from Innsbruck, Austria.

she commented that she was surprised at Juhe number of police with clims in their hands, "I wanted to tell them, honest, I'm not a criminal. But all they wanted to do was check our identification," she said. Miss Strauss said of long-haired boys, "In Austria II aboy grows his hair too long, he goes to the principal who will tell him to go to the barber, or he may even expel him." Arriving Jug. 13, like everyone else, she suffered from the heat wave. Even when It gets very hot in Austria during the summer, she said, there is always a breeze to cool things off.

SHE IS ALSO amazed at the

SHE IS ALSO amazed at the

SHE IS ALSO amazed at the amount of wealth. here. "In Austria if Someone has a car, a television and a nice apartment, he is tonsidered wealthy, but here everyone seems to have these things," she observed. Miss Strauss's fithe and woral expetities implif be explained by the fact that she is possibly a relative of the famed composer, Johann Strauss, since both his and her familities come from the same town.

Although she has already graduated from high school in Austria, she will enter Farmington High as a sentor. Her courses will include speech, personal typing, essay writing, French, English, American government, American literature, and music.
