

Premieres slated at Attic Theatre

The season of Michigan premieres scheduled at Detroit's Attic Theatre for 1982-83 ranges from swashbuckling melodrama and musical comedy to science-fiction adventure and Irish history.

"March of the Falsettos," a humorous musical by William Finn, will open the season (Sept. 17 to Oct. 30). Awarded best musical in 1981 by the Outer Critics' Circle, it is the story of Marvin, who leaves his wife and pre-teen son for a male lover. No sooner does he leave than his ex-wife takes up with his psychiatrist.

"The Grandmother's House We Go" by Joanna M. Glass (Nov. 5 to Dec. 18) is a comedy-drama set in New England. Three generations of a family gather at grandmother's house for what appears to be a simple Thanksgiving celebration, but which turns into a series of events that change family relationships.

"Zastrozzi" (Dec. 31 to Feb. 12) is a swashbuckling melodrama by George A. Walker, in which Zastrozzi, the Satan of Europe, seeks revenge against the saintly Verezi in a battle of good against evil.

BRIAN FRIEL'S "Translations" (Feb. 18 to April 2) is set in Ireland in 1833. It tells of the calamitous relations between Irish peasants and well-meaning British cartographers.

"Between Daylight and Duskville" by Matt Williams (April 8 to May 21) takes place in a trailer court in Southern Indiana. It focuses on the women who stay at home while their men work in the mines. His humorous play has a tragic twist.

"Warp," conceived by Stuart Gordon with script by Bury St. Edmund, is a science-fiction adventure. In the first episode (May 27 to July 9), David Carson, a bank teller, finds himself mysteriously transported into the fifth dimension where he finds his true identity and his mission.

The season will finish with a production yet to be announced (July 15 to Aug. 27).

Discounted season subscriptions can be purchased by calling the Attic Theatre at 963-7789.

Area actress appears in 'Pirates of Penzance'

Debra Lamb, a 1972 graduate of Bloomfield Hills Andover High School, is performing in the National Tour of "The Pirates of Penzance," playing Tuesday through Aug. 22 at the Star Theatre of Flint.

Tickets are available at the theater's box office at Whiting Auditorium. Reservations may be made by calling 239-1484.

Lamb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lamb of Union Lake, formerly of Bloomfield Hills.

In "The Pirates of Penzance," Lamb appears in the supporting role of Edith. The show stars Karla DeVito, who played Mabel in Joseph Papp's Broadway production; Don Stewart of "Guiding Light" as the Pirate King, and Robert Rosen as Frederic. Rosen was in the original Broadway production of "Shenandoah."

Lamb completed a bachelor of music degree from Westminster Choir College and a master of music degree from the University of North Carolina. While living in the Detroit area, Lamb performed with Jimmy Launice Productions and Janus Productions and sang with the Kenneth Jewell Chorus.

This fall Lamb will study voice and acting in New York and continue her job as vocal instructor at Burt Reynolds Dinner Theater in Jupiter, Fla.

New season announced by Birmingham players

The Birmingham Village Players 60th season, for 1982-83, has been announced by Dee Dewley, president of the board.

Ira Levin's mystery "Deathtrap" opens the season Sept. 24-25 and Oct. 1-

2. Next on the playbill will be the musical comedy "18 Girls 70," book by Fred Ebb, lyrics by Norman Martin, music by John Kander, which will have performances Nov. 19-21 and 22-27. Season tickets are on sale by calling 642-9016.
