

Music fraternity celebrates its Founders Day

Mu Phi Epsilon, international professional music fraternity, will present the Rosner Trio in a concert celebrating its Founders Day at 4 p.m. Sunday in North Congregational Church, 26375 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

The Rosner Trio is a family musical ensemble composed of Collette Salon Rosner, pianist, and her two daughters: Cindy Rosner-Kelly, clarinetist, and Kim Rosner-Doelker, flutist. In addition to performing together and as soloists, the members teach throughout Oakland County.

Cindy Rosner-Kelly is an expressive therapist on the staff of Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital. She graduated from Michigan State University, where she received a bachelor of music education and bachelor of music therapy degrees. She is an accomplished clarinetist and a free lance pianist for private functions. She is co-vice president of the Detroit Alumnae Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon.

KIM ROSNER-DOELKER, a graduate of Michigan State University, is a member of the board of directors of the Music Study Club of Metropolitan Detroit as well as the counselor of their student group. She is affiliated with the Farmington Musicals, the Birmingham Musicals, and the national and Detroit Flute Associations. She performs frequently for these groups as well as for religious services, weddings and parties.

Collette Salon Rosner has served as pianist for the Religious School of Temple Beth El, Birmingham, for the past 32 years. She received her bachelor of music degree from Wayne State University where she was affiliated with Phi Beta Kappa. She is a performing member of the Birmingham Musicals. The trio will perform works of von Weber, Reinecke, Saint-Saens and the premier of a work written for the ensemble by Geraldine Schwartz, a Detroit composer who is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Soprano Tamra Klemek will be featured on the programs, accompanied by Gerrie Ball. Klemek is majoring in music at Wayne State University, where she is president of Phi Kappa chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Anyone may attend the concert and the reception afterward.

Our plain brown wrapper

It was time to send a birthday package to Alaska, so the trusty roll of brown paper came out of the basement again.

All paper and a yard wide, it's a bit heavy to lug up the stairs and a bit awkward to cut.

But once again it provided a double thickness of sturdy outer wrapping, and once again it didn't even seem diminished after I removed the generous bunk I needed.

THAT WEIGHTY ROLL has been with us a long time.

I brought it from my parents' home when that house was sold, and I know they used it for some time before we got it.

In fact, as long as I can remember there was a roll of brown wrapping paper in their house. My dad didn't confine its use to packages that had to be mailed. He also bundled up the office work he was taking home, as people today use a briefcase, and appeared each night with a package of what my mother always termed "dull care."

I found myself wondering, as I cut off a piece to send north around the birthday package, if that particular roll ever had had paper that wrapped, dull care.

Probably not, but it's usefulness goes way back.

IT HAS SEEN a lot of basements, starting at the latest with my parents' last big house. We've moved it three times now, and it doesn't seem to get much lighter.

Since joining our clan, the roll of paper has experienced a couple of damp floors so one end is a little wavy. We just trim off an inch of paper and the roll wraps merrily on.

The man of our house wondered recently if we'd ever use up the paper, or if it would outlive us.

Maybe we too will wind up passing it on to another generation.

But with all the comings and goings and changes in life, it's kind of nice to have a constant. Even if it's just an old roll of brown wrapping paper.
