

Freezing experience

Maybe we haven't had much snow this year, but thanks to the Farmington Department of Public Service the rink on Shlawassee and Farmington Roads has been frozen. Working helping Mother Nature along are Patrick Schade (left) and Gary Novakowski.

Architect will discuss safety and energy

Safety and energy will be discussed by James B. Abernethy, associate professor in the School of Architecture at Lawrence Institute of Technology, at noon Wednesday, Feb. 2.

Abernethy of Farmington will begin his presentation with a discussion of the most dangerous areas in a house. Using studies done by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the National Bureau of Standards as a base, he will detail the problems that can be encountered in places such as kitchens, bathrooms and stairs.

The second part of the presentation will compare the cost of installing energy-saving devices with the savings which will be realized from their use. According to Abernethy, some currently popular measures are unlikely to ever repay their purchase and installation charge unless energy costs escalate at an enormous rate.

The talk will be in the school of architecture auditorium on the LIT campus, located at 21000 W. 10 Mile Road near Northwestern Highway in Southfield. There is no charge and it is open to the public.

Dance festival featured at OCC

Programming will continue with a two-hour community dance class at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 17, a formal modern dance concert at 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 18, and a second community dance class at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 23.

All events will take place at OCC's Royal Oak Campus, corner of Washington and Lincoln in downtown Royal Oak.

Ticket prices for the separate Winter Dance Fest events are: $6 for the Feb. 16 concert, $4 for the Feb. 16 lecture demonstration, and $5 each for the Feb. 17 and Feb. 23 community dance classes. Student discounts, group rates and multi-event discount tickets are also available.
