

PTA Council awards scholarships to 6 seniors

The Farmington Parent-Teacher Association (PTA) honored six graduating high school seniors recently by awarding each of them a $300 G.V. Harrison Scholarship.

The seniors, two from each of Farmington's three public high schools, were given the scholarships at the June 7 meeting of the Farmington Board of Education.

Honored were Dan Schroeder and Charles Spencer, both of Farmington High School; Marcia Thompson and Wendy Cohen of North Farmington; and Lauri Levinson and William Smith of Farmington Harrison.

"The amount (of the scholarships) varies from year to year," Marge Lowe of the PTA Council. "We'd like to make it more. We feel they are beneficial."

This year's scholarship money was raised by holding two elementary school roller skating parties and a senior high lowball at Country Lanes, Lowe said.

"As our fund raising becomes more efficient, we'll be able to give more," she added. "We're just happy people have supported us during these hard economic times."

Schroeder, 17, has been active in many Farmington High activities, including theater. He plans to study electrical engineering and theater at Michigan State University.

Spencer, also headed for MSU, plans to study chemical engineering. The 17-year-old Farmington High student, was active in the Spanish and Physics clubs and intramural basketball.

NORTH FARMINGTON'S Thompson, 18, will be remembered for her exploits on the school's basketball, volleyball and track teams. She plans to study nursing at Oakland University.

Cohen, 18, was active in the Spanish Club and the cooperative education program at North Farmington. She plans to study business at the University of Michigan.

Harrison's Levinson, 17, has been active in the band and is a member of the National Honor Society. She plans to study music at Michigan State.

Smith, 18, is headed for Michigan Tech to study electrical engineering. He was the editor of the Harrison newspaper, yearbook and literary magazine and was also a member of the marching band.

Members of the PTA Council judged the entries. The scholarships are named for a former superintendent of the Farmington School district.

Also honored by the PTA Council at the board meeting were nine elementary school students. They were recipients of the Reflections Awards.

Two schools, Kenbrook and Longacre, were involved in the program, which has awards in art, music and literature.

IN THE art category, awards went to Brad Green and Todd Smith, both of Kenbrook, and Shannon Dudley and Brent Nelson, both of Longacre. All are fifth graders except Dudley, who is in the fourth grade.

In literature, Longacre's Melissa Hull and Jennifer Hardy were honored, as were Kenbrook's Nadeem Belbeisi and Todd Stoneman. Belbeisi and Hardy are fifth graders. Hull is a fourth grader, and Stoneman is in the third grade.
