

Consider 'fun' in the choice

- Watch for outerwear jackets, and three quarter and seven eighths coats.
- Sweaters that mix yarn and fabrics and color. Some are fun spliced.
- You'll see black leather for evening.
- Fun stuff! Animal prints woven into sweaters, printed on fabric, used as accessories.
- Remember the jumpsuit? It surfaces again.
- And culottes.
- The peplum.
- Pleated, cuffed gray flannel trousers.
- Anything that reminds of Joan Crawford.
- Hats.
- Leather gloves.
- Fur boas.

Sandy Thomas follows an active schedule as the wife of the owner of Major Magic enterprises. She considers Harriet Winter's gray great coat and luxe fox boa to be major finds. For fun and festivity she adds star-shaped rhinestone earrings. Coat, $345. From Roz & Sherm.

Sherri and Bob Bird's active lives revolve around family, her job promoting the Fisher Building and other Trizec properties, and his career as a manufacturers' representative. Together they promote a number of community fund-raising projects. For fall she was intrigued by the drama of layering separates with a black cape edged with raccoon tails. Gantos. Bob's cotton jacket and double-pleated trousers by Henry Grethel are from Strictly Sportswear. Jacket, $104.

The looks of many textures, leather, fur and tweed, are natural choices for Brigitte and Jimmy Launce, the WJR personality who also produces dinner theater at the Hyatt and Somerset Mall. Her Escada sweater is edged with mink, $360, skirt, $160. His leather coat, $220. Jacobson's.
