

Maureen Hill, manager of Hattie, Inc., wears Sonya Rykle's dukey blue trousers, sweater vest and strolling jacket, which are equally at home on country outings or in the sophisticated, high-style world of fashion.

The gray flannel trouser makes an important comeback this fall, with which Jill Whelan wears the evening sweater, a gray knit with angora sleeves and a butterfly motif. Sweater by Miss Kipps, $330. Hudson's.

Hudson's fashion authority Phyllis Johnson's color-spliced sweater by Geraldine Peterson, $89, is one of the options that will be seen this fall, which will make it easy for women to move through a variety of social and business engagements.

WHY SOUTHWICK SUITS YOU SO WELL:

Every Southwick suit embodies the fundamentally British/American attitude that what you wear should look like you, rather than your tailor.

The classic lines of the natural-shoulder silhouette, careful tailoring, and the soft drapes of natural fabrics all contribute to the total effect of ease, comfort, and elegance.
