When Phil Fox takes time away from being promotional director for the Hillberry Theatre he dons custom patchwork trousers that combine all the classic plaids and patterns, a shetland sweater, and reversible Irish Donegal jacket, $225. Thom Lottler.

Fall menswear, it's civilized

THERE IS a more casual attitude being reflected in menswear for fall '83.

Men are into colors, sweaters, vests and mixing textures.

The classics are still the mainstay for the majority of men, but color highlights in accessories are slipping into wardrobes.

Men will not be wearing bright colors for business, but you'll notice many suits will be updated with hidden color tones behind those basic colors.

There are interesting textures and patterns, striped and plaided herringbones, and mini-herringbones with a splash of color.

A busy civic supporter, Elliott Trumbull also enjoys a few quieter moments. His pattern-on-pattern look includes a sweater vest in pastels by Fair Isle, $105, and corduroy jacket, $315. The Claymore Shop.
