New Fun-In-Water For All Ages

New kinds of action will add excitement to children's play this summer, reports an executive of a games and toys manufacturing company.

An unusual addition to fun-in-the-water play are Fliptails, colorful plastic fish that swim realistically just below the surface of the water.

Each of the 10½ inch stylized fish has a crank at his mouth used to wind a rubber band which, in turn, drives the tail fin in a side-to-side motion that propels the fish through the water in motion similar to the swimming action of a fish. Fliptails are engineered so that flotation is always in an upright position, just below the surface of the water.

MOST UNUSUAL BOAT design is Pool Buggy by the toy company, Kenner. It is an electrically powered catamaran design for use in swimming pools or confined waters.

It is a sturdy ride-on boat with two pontoons of hollow polyethylene and is powered by a unique alkaline battery that is sealed in a metal container.

NEW GAME FUN is provided by Flip Your Top played with a pentagonal paddle and a gyroscope type top. Object of play is to spin the top as long as possible on the flat surface of each side of the paddle; both are enclosed by flanges to contain the top; and one side has a maze for extra excitement.

EXCITING NEW IDEA for water fun. Pool Buggy, a Catamaran-type, two pontoon, ride-on boat, can be used in a swimming pool 8 feet in diameter or larger, and in as little as 10 inches of water. It's powered by a unique alkaline battery sealed in a metal container. There's no acid or water to spill; a recharger is included. Pool Buggy will carry a child weighing up to 125 pounds at a safe speed. By Kenner Products Co.
