Radio host: never at a loss for words.

This week I am going to change my format and give you the handwriting of someone who is well-known in the area. I will supply only one small clue and I would like you to guess who the mystery writer is. He is a talk show host on a popular radio station which daily invites you to "talk to me."

This is the handwriting of a man who was born with a silver tongue. Never is he at a loss for words or ideas. This is revealed by g's that look like figure 8's and f's that have backturned lower loops.

Complementing this fluency is a vivid imagination. Life with this man would never be dull. This imagination is shown by many inflated loops, both tall and wide, also many high i's.

My husband and you are going to be intelligent guys -

A sensuous nature with emphasis on the beauty of the outdoors is suggested by printed capitals and his use of a wide nibbed pen.
A dynamic personality with contagious enthusiasm soars on those long and often upturned i bars.

HERE IS A MAN who can enjoy the company of others and can also be comfortable relaxing alone. Right talk, combination of both full lower loops and some that are sticks tell us this. Now add the showmanship of his large, embellished signature and we see a talk show host who can put it all together in a very interesting and charismatic manner.

Just in case you haven't guessed him, let me introduce you to Kevin Joyce. Recently, I was featured on his radio show "What's My Line." I was so favorably impressed with his talents and charm that I asked him if he would be willing to share a sample of his handwriting for my column readers.

If you have a question about your handwriting, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper writing in the first person singular. Age and handedness are also helpful. Feedback is always welcomed.
