Give a portrait for a gift

WHEN GRANDPARENTS or other loved ones live far away, one of the best ways you can stay in touch this Christmas and offer is with a family group portrait framed and ready to hang on their walls.

If it's been a few years since you've had a family group portrait made, it may be time to have another that shows how the children have grown.

A family portrait made by a professional photographer can be as creative and varied as your lifestyle. For a formal, traditional look, you can arrange to have a portrait made in the studio with dramatic lighting and background. For a photograph that captures a more informal lifestyle, consider a portrait made in your home or outdoors in a park or other suitable location.

Because the holiday season may be the photographer's busiest during the year, it is wise to plan ahead for an appointment.

When you make the appointment with the photographer, select the style and setting for the portrait session. The professional will be able to answer any questions you may have about coordinating clothing colors and styles for each member of the family.

Generally, it is best for women to select outfits with long or three-quarter length sleeves, flattering — not bulky — necklines and a minimum of jewelry and accessories. Black and stark white should be avoided except as accent colors. Men can opt for conservative business suits — again, avoiding solid black — or coordinated slacks, sweaters and shirts for an informal portrait. Children should be dressed in appropriate outfits, but avoid T-shirts and jeans, which will soon look outdated.

Your photographer will probably advise bringing two or three choices of outfits for each person to the portrait session.

If you have a treasured family pet, you may wish to have it in the group portrait. Alert your photographer ahead of time so he is prepared to handle and pose the pet.

If your children are grown and away at school, try to arrange a portrait session for the Thanksgiving weekend when they will all be home to celebrate. Be sure to let the photographer know you wish the portrait ready for holiday gifting.

If you don't have enough time between the portrait session and the holidays to have the final photograph framed and wrapped, ask the photographer to make a small print of the selected view and give this to your loved ones with a note explaining the present to come.
