D. U. R. CARS TO STOP AT LIMITS

Railway Company to Provide Buses For Transportation to Downtown Points

That the D. U. R. is planning to put in operation a system by which interurban passengers will be transported from Detroit city limits to the main terminal stations at Jefferson and Baker streets, as announced by the president of the company.

This official says that 50 such buses will be placed in service. He added that after the buses begin to operate, most of the D. U. R. interurban cars will not enter the city at all, but will stop at the limits, where branch terminal stations will be built.

The Enterprise is informed that it is not intended to make a change on the Grand River division at once, but will try out the scheme on Gratiot and Woodward first. It is claimed that a trial recently made on Woodward in a saving of 45 minutes in a round trip to the downtown district of Detroit. Several changes have been under contemplation for re-routing Grand River interurban cars in order to make better time. One plan advanced was to leave Grand River avenue after entering the city, running south to Congress street and thence to the downtown district. This, it is claimed, "would save time, but the objectionable feature was that it would probably result in a loss of passengers, as many passengers are taken on out-bound cars at the city hall on Griswold street.

Interurban stations are to be located at city limits on each route. Incoming passengers will leave the interurban cars at the sub-terminals and board the buses for the ride through the city. They will be provided with transfers acceptable as fare on the buses. Outbound passengers will be carried from the interurban station on Jefferson avenue on the buses to the city limits, where they will board the interurban cars at the sub-terminals. Only interurban car passengers will be permitted to use the buses.

After the bus system is put into operation, the only interurban cars that will enter the city and proceed to the downtown terminal will be a few parlor cars.

HOUSE CATS RUN WILD OVER OTTAWA COUNTY

Hundreds of house cats are running wild in Ottawa county woods. The cats skip over brush piles and bite the countless eyes can be seen by motorists along the trunk-line highways. The cats have been abandoned by resorters during the summer and left to provide their own living. It is estimated by officials that more than 500 cats were abandoned here this summer. Most of the families who come to the various resorts here to spend the summer, obtain a few kittens for the children. Then, when the time for moving to their homes comes, the cats are forgotten. Just how these animals will survive when winter comes and the food supply runs short is not known.

The death of Mrs. Thomas Bridge occurred Tuesday.

FAITH IN FARMINGTON

That Farmington is destined to become one of the leading "home town" suburbs of Detroit is recognized by enterprising outsiders and is evidenced by the fact that several of them who are interested in building and really have erected a number of fine dwellings here, which are to be placed on the market. These buildings are intended as homes for a desirable class of citizens. They are provided with all modern conveniences and are a pleasure to permit of every possible comfort. Pleasing architectural design and finish, they will appeal to those of most exacting tastes.

Three such residences have been built in the eastern part of the village by LeRoy Clemming, who is now a resident of Farmington, and two have been erected by Lyman Farrand. Faith in the future of Farmington as the incentive for their construction. Nowhere else are investors and builders putting their money into this class of building without first securing a purchaser. Actuated by the same faith, other holders are erecting buildings or preparing to do so in other parts of the village.

SUCH MUTE APPEALS—BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Four little waif-like faces appeal to you. They were shipped at the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Howell. Averaging less than ten years old, these girls fight desperately against death from tuberculosis, the most persistent enemy known to man.

The treatment prescribed for them was rest and fresh air, which means exposing the body to the curative rays of the sun. Tanned they are, and happy they are, for they do not know that they might be added to the long list of 4,000 silent appeals in Michigan for the last ten years by "The Great White Plague."

Double trouble and quadruple these waifs need many times and you have some idea of the number of boys and girls who daily lose their youth; perhaps their lives, as a result of tuberculosis. Christmas Seals fight laboriously. Every penny is a blow against the hideous monster whose next victim may be your child. BUY SEALS.

THE HADGE OF A GOOD MOTOR CITIZEN

A real man wants to do his share in the promotion of common good. Automobiles, of one type or another, have come to be almost the sole users of the highways. Within the short period of 20 years there has been a revolution in vehicular traffic. In the adjustment of this new vehicle and this new means of transportation to the social economy, motor clubs have been indispensable. Every man who owns a machine exhibits a disposition to do his share when he maintains a membership in his home club. Through the club, in co-operation with other motorists, he does for himself what he could not do single-handed. The member motorist is a slacker; he reaps where others sow.

If the duties referred to do not appeal to his sense of fairness, when he comes to travel, the motorist discovers another, equally important reason why he ought to belong to his home motor club. The Oakland County Automobile Club is your home club and handles local problems. Local clubs in different states and towns unite to form state associations in the maintenance of a great national organization. In this way hundreds of clubs, all over the land, are brought into harmonious relationship. They combine to furnish information to one another, to promote good roads, fair taxation, the making of road maps, and the thousand and one things in which motorists are interested.

Perhaps the most valuable feature of this national relationship is in the reciprocity it provides. For 25 years the American Automobile Association has held nearly all the motor clubs together for their common good and that of their members. If you are a member of a motor club affiliated with the A. A. A., you are entitled to the courtesies of this great multitude of clubs.

You may get courtesy without membership—the officers of the motor clubs are gentlemen. However, you will be regarded as a "moocher," the motorists' designation of a "dead-head." Those who travel must have learned that, in every state in the union and in every country in the world, the radiator emblem of the A. A. A. or one of its clubs is worth its weight in gold. For one thing, it indicates that the owner is a man who is doing his share. It is a certificate of good character and good citizenship. It makes you a brother to good citizens everywhere.

You should be a member of the Oakland County Automobile Club.

OAKLAND COUNTY DAIRY COWS

A 3.7 Per Cent Increase In Number Shown By a Recent Census.

Oakland county's dairy cow population is increasing, according to figures announced by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The statement covers an area embracing approximately one-eighth of the state in this section, and is believed to hold true for the county proper.

A 3.7 per cent gain in the number of dairy cows two years old and over is noted for the district over the preceding year, while the increase for the state as a whole was 5.5 per cent as compared with 1923. The entire United States shows an increase amounting to 5 per cent, government figures show. The number of heifers one to two years old as compared to the total number of cows in this district seem to be above the average, indicating the intention to bring more young stock into milk in the near future.

In citing these figures the Institute calls attention to the fact that the United States needs 320,000 more cows every year if production is to keep step with the normal growth of demand for dairy products. There are 1,412,000 more mouths to be fed in the United States with every passing year and with the increased consumption of dairy products per capita, this adds a number to the nation's herd which will barely suffice to meet the increased demand.

INTERNATIONAL ANNIVERSARY TO BE A MEMORABLE EVENT

The quarter-centennial celebration of the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago, Nov. 29th to Dec. 6th, promises to be a historic making occasion in many ways, according to B. H. Helde, Secretary-Manager of this well-known show.

The social side will be especially emphasized this year. Numerous reunions and banquets will give visitors an unusual opportunity to meet their friends from all parts of the country and renew old acquaintances. The business interests of Chicago have arranged unusual forms of entertainment for guests at the metropolis during International Week.

The live stock contests between superior specimens of cattle, horses, sheep and swine promise to be of a rare sporting character, since many of the previous champions have been retired and the winners this year are expected to include numerous "dark horses."

The grain and hay show will prove to be an exciting battle ground where the relative merits as crop-producing regions of the various sections of the continent will be fought out among over 5,000 outstanding samples of grains, small seeds and hay. Some portions of North America have enjoyed favorable weather, but competition will be equalized by dividing the territory into zones.

The agricultural colleges and experiment stations are planning to make interesting and valuable exhibits, showing the results of recent investigations in many lines of agriculture. The subject treated will include many of timely importance such as the best use to make of the soft corn crop.

A junior live stock judging contest will be held on the opening day between the various state championship teams for national honors. The three young boys or girls who make the highest individual scores will be awarded agricultural college scholarships by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

A feature of the night horse show this year will be the case for the old time four-horse hitch which is coming back in social favor in the east and abroad. A busy week of education and entertainment is promised all visitors to the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago the first week in December by the management.
