COOKING BY CURRENT

Cooking without fire, smoke, or ashes, without fumes or gases; cooking with steady, unchanging heat; cooking at no greater bother than the snapping of a switch - that is electric cooking.

The electric range now so widely used, has brought great comfort into the kitchen; it has done away with the troubles, the watchfulness, the anxieties, of the old time cooking and has substituted a sure, cleanly, and comparatively effortless method of preparing food for the table.

Come in and inspect the electric range. It is a thing that appeals to the heart of every housewife.

NOVI SCHOOL NOTES

(Too late for last week)

Recent visitors to our school were Roy O. West, of Concord, and Miss Fern DeLaney, of Davison.

School re-opened a week ago, after having been closed for two weeks on account of scarlet fever in the community.

We dedicated our flag one day last week. Esther Fischer, of the sixth grade, and Dorothy Vogt of the eighth, were chosen as the two most worthy to do this. Both Esther and Dorothy were voted as best in citizenship and good school work.

Miss Porter, Mrs. Hames and Supt. Hames attended Teachers' Institute last Monday and Tuesday.

The Novi school won a spelling match and Newcomb game from West Novi school. The team that made up these contests from Novi school was composed of the following children: Esther, Fisher, Marion Shinn, George Lavell, Dorothy Vogt, Zada Mae Putnam and Margaret Stillwell. Esther Fischer spelled down both schools.

The football team won from Walled Lake's second team last week.

Miss Ethel O'Conner, our helping teacher, visited our school recently, and gave a spelling test. Teachers of the township and zone L. B. met Saturday at the Bassett school and graded these papers. Marion Shinn, a sixth grader, ranked highest.

We are planning a movie next Friday, November 14th. All welcome.

LAST WEEK OF "THE THIEF OF BAGDAD"

Next Sunday afternoon Douglas Fairbanks' splendid picture "The Thief of Bagdad" enters upon the fourth and last week of its remarkably successful engagement at the New Detroit Opera House. It is quite safe to assert that more people have seen "The Thief of Bagdad" so far than witnessed any other photo spectacle in a corresponding time in this city. Night after night every seat in the theater has been filled and there seems to be no falling off in the attendance. The picture has a strong appeal to people of all ages. The fairy pictures that were conjured up in childhood have never quite left the mind. They lie there dormant, ready to be called up in moments when the struggle for the things we deem necessary to our existence is forgotten for a brief time. The love for the mystical and the supernatural is inherent in all of us, else there would be no religion, no dreams of a better life than the one we are passing on this mundane globe. "The Thief of Bagdad" takes us away from the prosaic world of today and carries us back to an era of enchantment, of rare wonders and colossal splendor. In this we live for a couple of hours and are happy. In its execution of the desired effects, this picture has been acclaimed the furthest advance that has been

LINES IN A BIBLE

Remember, love, who gave thee this, When other days shall come; When she who had thy earliest kiss Sleeps in her narrow home. Remember, 'twas a mother gave— The gift to one she'd die to save.

The mother sought a pledge of love, The holiest for her son; And from the gift of God above She chose a costly one; She chose for her beloved boy The source of life, and light, and joy.

And bade him keep the gift—that when The parting hour should come They might have hope to meet again In her eternal home; She said his faith in it would be Sweet license to her memory:

And should the seafarer, in his pride, Laugh that fond gift to scorn, And bid him cast that pledge aside That he from youth had borne! She bade him pause and ask his breast If he, or she, had loved him best?

A parent's blessing on her son, Goes with this holy thing; The love that would retain the one Must to the other cling. Remember, 'tis his life's joy, A mother's gift—remember, boy! —Pathfinder Magazine.
