DINNER SUGGESTIONS

Some good fresh Spinach would make a fine vegetable for your dinner tomorrow—with a bunch of Green Onions on the side.

And for a desert you'll find a nice ripe Pineapple will answer or a fruit salad with Grapes, Oranges, Bananas, Cherries and Nuts.

We also may suggest some good brown Bulk-wheat cakes to start out these sharp crisp mornings with a little syrup.

Why Your Electric Light Bills Go Up and Down

In Winter you depend upon artificial lighting nearly three times as many hours in each 24 as in Summer.

In June the average use of electric light, in a residence, is 2 hours and 35 minutes a day.

In December the average use of electric light, in a residence, is 6 hours and 50 minutes a day.

This is perfectly natural. As the summer days lengthen, the "electric light hours" become shorter. So on until January when the days grow shorter and the "electric light hours" grow longer.

There are other reasons, too, why your bills in fall and winter are larger than in the spring and summer, good reasons that show it is simply the result of the season's changes; your more extensive use of electric light, and not the fault of the electric light company at all.

When summer is over, vacations are over. Everybody is home again; more rooms are occupied; more light is needed.

Long evenings—late bedtimes. The outside cold keeps us indoors. The soft, cozy glow of electric light makes reading a pleasure. More people stay home on this account. The newspapers, magazines, study of a good book, music and games pass the evening all too quickly. It is bedtime before one knows it!

More entertaining is done—parties at home for the grown-ups and little folks. Sometimes the house fairly radiates with the good cheer of electric light.

Think this all over carefully and you will see why your winter electric light bills can reasonably triple those of summer.
