PRECAUTION — To instruct residents in ways to create a safer home while vacationing, the City of Farmington Beautification Committee issued 9,000 "Light the Night" pamphlets to Farmington elementary school pupils. In cooperation with the schools and local law enforcement agencies, the project was sponsored by United Northwestern Realty Association, Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. Issuing the first pamphlets were Frank Crosby of the real estate board, school administrative assistant Byron Oliver, Marilyn MacLennan of Longacre School and Walter E. Sundquist, vice chairman of the beautification committee. (Ever photo)

3 Earn Awards

Three Farmington residents received major awards at an honors convocation at Detroit County Country Day School.

The Harvard Book Prize, presented by the Harvard Club, was won by Paul Vagnozzi. Paul Klymko won the departmental award in science and Steve Ballmer in math.

The highly competitive awards are decided by faculty decision after a thorough analysis of the candidates. The honors recognize achievement in scholarship, athletics, character and leadership.
