

Renee Miller's relaxed, natural linen suit, $300, and red blouse are from Michael Gettsoff. One important accessory this season could be her dramatic belt.

Vivian Carpenter is a graduate student. Her Michael Kors tunic, $310, pants, $210, and jacket, $310, are all from Bonwit Teller. The head wrap is another season accessory.

Marlene Spinner is producer of the Mrs. Michigan pageant. Her black and white tweed column dress, $220, really means business. Lord & Taylor.

Sheryl Kammer, a busy mother of two, doesn't have far to go to find clothes that work. Sister Caprice Chapman designs a luscious suede suit, skirt, $260, blouse, $280. Custom.

The professional trouser look appeals to Lynn Salata. Brick-red jacket by Michael Carro, $68, black polished trousers, $89. Lord & Taylor.

A seasoned traveler, Pat Stempel insists that her clothes suit wherever she is. Her tunic dress, $54, pants, $44, and Dorothy Bis raincoat, $475, are from Roz and Sherm.

CALVIN KLEIN.

THE AMERICAN PASSPORT.

Decidedly influential. In any place that counts.

Anywhere in the world, Calvin makes a cool allusion to worldly lifestyle. With his diamond-weave boatneck sweater, in cream or straw cotton/linen, for S,M or

L sizes, 118.00 And dark natural flax linen skirt, box-pleated in front and back; for 4 to 12 sizes, 79.00

Designer Sportswear, on our First Floor Somerset Mall

BONWIT
TELLER