Hospital founder dies; medicine was his art

To Dr. Allen Zieger, medicine was an art supported by science and research. And his love for medicine and other more traditional art forms were the driving forces in his life.

Zieger, 74, founder and president of Boltford General Hospital, Farmington Hills, died Friday, Memorial services were conducted at 1ra Kaufman Faneral Home, Southleld on Sunday.

Born in Poland in 1910, Zieger came to the United Sistes as a child. Graduating from High School when he was 16 years old, he went on to Kirkswille College of Osteopathy and Surgery. He began private practice in Detroit. He continued his category for the part of the property of of
