In the early days of the Roman Empire, military generals wore iron rings to commemorate their major victories in battle. Only the highest nobility could wear rings of gold.
A gold ring, with or without a precious stone, brings happiness to its owner. Buy one of ours for a dear friend or for yourself.

Something To Think About
BOB ROCK DIRECTOR

ACCEPTING SUDDEN DEATH
Sudden death is, by definition, an event for which we are unprepared. Unlike the death of someone whom we love, or someone with a terminal illness, it is a death which has not been anticipated and is often quite difficult to accept.
When a family is faced with a sudden accidental death, it can be very helpful if they are able to view the body in a peaceful setting and to prepare the body in an acceptable manner. That the loved one is able to face the reality of death, then the release could be closer.
On the other hand, if the victim of a sudden death is kept from view, it can cause a lot of psychological problems for the survivors. An official data has demonstrated, preventing the body from seeing the body, can keep them in the stage of denial for years to come, and prevent them from accepting their loss.
