

Kids Day launches festival

Kids will have their day during this year's festival from noon to 6 p.m., Tuesday, July 17, in the city park and 6-8 p.m. at the Farmington Community Center.

The Farmington Community Library, Community Center, Farmington Jaycees, YMCA and the Farmington Parks and Recreation are sponsors.

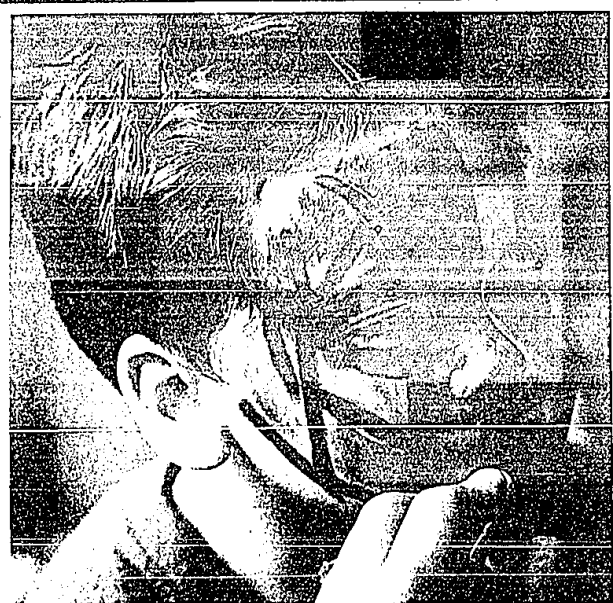

Several new events will be included this year, including a stage production of "Free to be You and Me" performed by the Class Players in the Natural Amphitheatre at the Farmington Community Center.

The play begins at 7 p.m. and lasts for about one hour. The Center is also inviting the public to the picnic on the grounds before the play begins starting at 6 p.m. A hot dog roast by the Farmington Jaycees is also planned for those who wish to picnic.

Family and kids will enjoy the fun and history of a pioneer demonstration held in the park. This new event illustrates the many arts and crafts of the early settlers of Farmington and Farmington Hills. To add in more fun the demonstrators will be dressed in early American attire.

An Olympic Contest, in tune with this year's Summer Olympic Games, will be held in the city park. The majority of the events will consist of running games and races by age groups.

In addition, a coast guard helicopter from Selfridge Air Base will be demonstrating several of their rescue exercises and equipment in the city park. Other demonstrations will be given by the fire and police departments.

Getting made up will be all part of the fun of the annual Festival activities.

Kid's Day wouldn't be complete without clowns and a magician. Eye Faw the Clown; Pro Bloono and Carmody the Magician will be at the park.

Several other activities from last year's agenda such as, a pet show, Jr. Grand Prix, pony rides, face painting, moon walks, helium balloon launch, petting zoo and a rotten sneaker contest are scheduled again.

Last year's attendance levels reached approximately 6,500.

"With the addition of several new and exciting events added to the schedule, attendance is expected to reach 10,000," said Betty Paine, Kid's Day coordinator at the Farmington Community Center.

There is no general admission fee but the kiddie rides, moon walk and pony rides will cost 75 cents. Video games will also be included in the fun and will cost 25 cents.

Artist will show pottery skills

John Glick, nationally known potter, will conduct tours through his studio, the Plum Tree Pottery at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., Sunday, July 15 at the Farmington Community Center, 24705 Farmington Road.

Glick will discuss the artistic process of potting and explain his own philosophy.

This is a rare opportunity to take a glimpse of the effort behind a finished work of art.

Coffee and refreshments will be available at the Center after the tour. There will be a drawing for an original John Glick pot.

There is a $4 fee per person and $12 for families.
