

Missiles And Rockets All Ready For Kickoff

Upwards of 200 Farmington area youngsters of ages nine through 12 began competition this week in the Jack Lowther Football League, facing nine-game schedules before the season closes early in November.

Farmington has two squads in the loop as representatives of the Farmington Junior Football Association, the Missiles and the Rockets. Home games of the Missiles are played at North Farmington High School and those of the Rockets are staged at Farmington High School.

Each squad is broken into three separate teams--the varsity, junior varsity and so-called freshmen--and three games are conducted against the similar three rival teams on every playing date.

OFFICERS of the association include Frank Hanny, president; Adam Gasior, executive vice-president; R.E. Packard, Rocket vice-president; Bill Hudson, Missile vice-president; Richard Boy, treasurer; Ernest Nicolay, recording secretary; and Chuck Smith, corresponding secretary.

President of the sponsoring Dad's Club of the association is Robert Tarske. The group meets every Tuesday night in the Blue Lantern restaurant and invites fathers of all team players to attend.

Directors are Robert Dwyer, Bill Fence, Barney Alas and Leo Devine. Coaches' representatives are Gordon Muir and Don Robinson.

DOWNTOWN FARMINGTON

CENTER

MODERNIZING!

We modernize our stocks... to bring you fresh, new merchandise, advance values. We modernize our services... constantly streamlining and expanding to serve you more and better. We modernize our stores... with up-to-date store fronts, attractive window displays and, even more important, interiors arranged for your shopping ease. Downtown, we're always modernizing. Just one thing is a little old-fashioned: our attitude towards prices. Downtown Farmington Center keeps them down.
