

Area delegates plump for Jeane

DALLAS — It was supposed to look spontaneous — and it did. It was supposed to catapult Jeane Kirkpatrick into media prominence — but it didn't. Conservative Republicans staged a spontaneous demonstration Monday night for the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

And while hers was widely considered to be the best speech of the first night of the GOP National convention, it went almost unnoticed by national TV.

"It wasn't as long as we had hoped," Michael Legg, delegate from Livonia, said after the show he had helped plot. "It was like a nomination — it seemed so spontaneous," said Page Yeager, an alternate from Bloomfield Hills who was unaware of the plan.

LEGG ANNOUNCED to the Michigan delegation that morning that he was part of a plan to stage a "spontaneous" demonstration for Kirkpatrick. "The humorous inflection in his voice told everyone there would be nothing 'spontaneous' about it."

Two minutes are allotted for applause," Legg said. "The band is to stop at that point. But every time he (the chairman) hits the gavel, it's your cue to cheer harder."

"We want Jeane to leave Dallas with real stature, the same as Mario Cuomo (New York governor who keynoted the Democratic National Convention last month and emerged as a top 1988 presidential contender).

"We're going to outdo the Gary Hart demonstration by 10 times," said Legg, recalling the show-stopping demonstration for the No. 2 Democratic contender in San Francisco.

TUE "WE" Legg referred to is Citizens for America, a conservative group set up in 40 states by Lewis E. Lehrman, the 1982 GOP nominee against Gov. Cuomo in New York.

"It's an obvious outlet for his energies," Legg said. "He has a strong belief the second Reagan administration will be more social-issue oriented than the first."

"He wants to stay active in politics. I don't know if he (Lehrman) is stumping for 1988 or not."

Why honor Kirkpatrick, who is still a registered Democrat?

"Jeane Kirkpatrick represents the true course in foreign affairs," Legg answered. "She can be a good spokesperson for Reagan's foreign policy."

Both Jeane and Katherine Ortega (the keynote) are examples of well-qualified and articulate leaders in the Reagan administration. Gender had nothing to do with their appointments. They are well qualified. They are on top of their jobs."

YEAGER JOINED the "We Want Jeane" chant with enthusiasm. "She was so effective that everyone was thrilled and delighted. There were signs saying 'You Tell 'em Jeane' and 'We Support Ambassador Kirkpatrick.'"

Yeager had missed Legg's original announcement and assumed the demonstration really was "spontaneous."

So did Alabama delegate Peggy Lambert, who said, "It was a spontaneous thing. It just spread very quickly in the delegation."

The Dallas Times Herald reported that signs that appeared to be hand-lettered were actually carefully printed and stored well in advance of the convention.

Susan Heiss, an alternate from Northville Township, enjoyed the show, adding, "Her message was that 'I know there'll be a lot of lifelong Democrats who feel the way I do.'" the Democratic Party's distinct shift from the foreign policies of Truman, Kennedy and Johnson to the "unilateral restraint" of Jimmy Carter and last month's San Francisco convention.

JEANNE KIRKPATRICK deplored

"They said that saving Grenada from totalitarianism and terror was the wrong thing to do. They didn't blame Cuba or the Communists for threatening American students and murdering Grenadians — they blamed the United States instead."

"They always blame America first. They did not blame the Lebanese terrorists who murdered the Marines. They blamed the United States."

"But then they always blame America first."

In contrast, she said, Reagan has brought Americans confidence.

INTRODUCING Memorial Medical Center Somerset Branch

A GOOD SIGN FOR TROY

Over Forty Years Of Service
 Our Somerset Branch opening is more than just a milestone. It marks not a beginning, but a continuation of over four decades of service. As the area's newest primary care medical service, it enables us to provide our concept of total family health care to more families than ever before.

What Memorial Medical Care Means To You

At our Somerset Branch, as in our main office, you can select a personal physician for each member of your family. This personal attention, combined with the most modern primary care medical support available anywhere, results in the highest level of health care possible with maximum convenience for you and your family.

Save Time And Money With On-Site Services

With lab and X-ray services located within Somerset, you save hours of valuable time with the elimination of many types of hospital outpatient visits. Often test results are available the same day as your office visit... and at a cost substantially less than hospital performed tests.
