

Civic Orchestra holds auditions

Young musicians aspiring to professional careers are invited to audition for the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra, a pre-professional training orchestra for career-oriented music students.

Auditions for the 1984-85 orchestra will take place Sept. 8-22 at Ford Auditorium, before a panel comprised of its music director and selected members of the Detroit Symphony.

Those instrumentalists selected will participate in a nine-month, three-semester season, with weekly Saturday afternoon rehearsals.

Operating under the auspices of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the Civic Orchestra is led by music director Michael Krajewski.

Members receive tuition-free orchestral training through concerts and weekly rehearsals, sectional coaching sessions with Detroit Symphony musicians and rehearsals with noted conductors.

In addition, certain eligible Civic Orchestra members receive private lessons from Detroit Symphony musicians, assistance in obtaining instruments to play and scholarships to summer music camp.

A special activity slated for the Civic Orchestra's 1984-85 season is a weekend at Interlochen. At the invitation of Bruce Galtbrath, director of the Interlochen Arts Academy, whose members will spend Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 17-18, at the Academy, participating in master classes and attending a performance by students there.

The Civic Orchestra will also give a Sunday afternoon concert, led by Michael Krajewski.

The Orchestra is also seeking applicants for its Apprentice Conductor Program for the 1984-85 season.

This special training fellowship is open to minority musicians interested in conducting. Ideal applicants should be 30 years of age or under with some orchestral and conducting experience.

The apprentice conductor will take part in a variety of conducting and management activities of the orchestra. These include sharing the conducting at Civic Orchestra concerts, directing reading workshops of standard symphonic repertoire, participating in special sessions with Civic Orchestra music director Michael Krajewski to discuss scores and analyze conducting techniques, and observing Detroit Symphony guest conductors at work.

Other responsibilities of the apprentice conductor will be to assist in locating, selecting and placing Civic Orchestra members, assisting in related duties with the conductor, orchestra manager, or Detroit Symphony general manager and attending Detroit Symphony Orchestra rehearsals and performances whenever possible. The nine-month position carries a stipend of $4,000.

Resumes should be directed to Cecile Keith, education coordinator, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Ford Auditorium, Detroit, MI 48226. Deadline is Aug. 31.

Art-in-the-Park is 10 next month

Birmingham's Art-in-the-Park will celebrate its 10th anniversary with a two-day event Sept. 15 and 16. About 150 artists from 10 states will be exhibiting and selling their work in Shain Park.

The jury, headed by Nancy Blechman Clark, manager of Carol

Hooberman Gallery, and chairman of this year's event, looked at slides submitted by 550 artists.

The festivities will include gourmet food, strolling entertainers and a children's art area. The event is a benefit for Common Ground.

Free concerts in September

Free concerts are given at Somerset Mall 2-4 p.m. Sunday afternoons starting in September. The schedule is: Sept. 2, Paul Burns, classical piano; Sept. 9, "The Magic Flutes, classical flute; Sept. 16, "Bork 'em Riff," classical bassoon; Sept. 23, Ziggy Bella, gypsy violin quartet; and Sept. 30, Susan Ivers Barna and Ruth Myers, classical flute and harp.

Luncheon and dinner music have been added to the "bill of fare" at the new Cafe Jardin at the mall.

Ruth Myers, harp will play 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thursday Friday and Saturday and Myers and Susan Ivers Barna, flute will play 5:30-8 p.m. Monday evening and the Barna Duo, flute and piano, will play Thursday and Friday evenings.

The mall is at Big Beaver and Coolidge, Troy.

Carillon recital set

A 30-minute carillon recital will be given at 10 a.m. and noon on Sunday at Kirk in the Hills. The artist will be Beverly Buchanan, carillonneur of Christ Church Cranbrook of Bloomfield Hills.

The Kirk is on Long Lake, west of Telegraph, Bloomfield Hills.
