Hear buzz on pollen

Area residents are invited to hear Jim Devlin, "Mr. Bee Pollen," extol the virtues of honeybee pollen at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Finnish Center Assoc., 35200 W. Eight Mile Road, Farmington Hills.

An advocate of natural foods, Devlin is expected to discuss how eating bee pollen can improve and sustain health.

Devlin's appearance in Farmington Hills coincides with his appearance in an article in the October issue of National Geographic. The 28-page article discusses Devlin's work and the uses of bee pollen.

K of C helps out

Sunday weekend, according to Thomas Feathers, then the organization's financial secretary.

Some $5,800 was given to "organizations providing care and activities for the mentally impaired," Feathers said.

In addition to the FTC, the organizations are St. Clare's special religious education in Farmington, the North-West Communities Association of Retarded Citizens, Our Lady of Providence Center in Northville and Camp Fairhaven near Hartland.

THE FARMINGTON Knights of Columbus has provided funds for "extras the school district could not afford," according to Parker.

Past gifts included funds for equipment for a roller skating program, a coffee house and television video and taping equipment allowing the staff to create special programming for FTC students.

The roller skating, conducted mostly in the school gymnasium, has been especially well received, Parker said.

"Roller skates are very expensive," he said, "but it's something we thought our kids could do. They do it very well, and we even go to the roller rink once or twice a year."

BACK PAIN - THE DOCTOR'S DILEMMA
Most back pain is secondary to muscle or ligament strain and not readily reversed by medication.

The doctor's dilemma occurs because you come to the physician with hopes of obtaining a cure, or at least, substantial relief. In many cases the doctor can neither see the pain nor decrease your distress.

Then what is the reason to seek medical attention? In most cases of back pain, going to the doctor serves the purpose of providing peace of mind. While a doctor cannot tell you why you have your back pain, he or she can tell you what is not the cause.

With modern methods of examination, x-ray studies and laboratory evaluation, the physician can say with great accuracy that the problem is not a tumor, cancer, infection, or some form of illness that is potentially crippling or life threatening.

Thus it is not fair to return from an office visit and tell friends that you went to the doctor and "he didn't know what I had." At least medical assessment is able to establish what you don't have. This information will give you peace of mind, a form of relief second only to stopping the back pain itself.
