

Employment trends looking brighter

Despite some cooling of the economy last fall, the employment picture looks bright for 1985, according to a human resources management consultant.

Firm names new manager

Janet E. Bosco has been named district claim manager of the Farmington Hills Allstate Claim Office, 31500 W. 13 Mile.

Bosco started her career with Allstate as a casualty claim adjuster in 1973. Before her promotion, she held the position of Regional Casualty Claim Manager in the Michigan Regional Office located in Southfield. She attended the University of Michigan where she received her bachelor's degree.

advertising, encouraging hiring plans of companies and information that fewer companies plan to cut staff in the year ahead. A recent survey by his firm of 800 businesses reveals that 75 percent will hire at the same or increased rate over last year.

Tony Racka

While a sizzling market for engineers and highly skilled professionals has simmered down and the hiring of senior and middle managers has ebbed from a 1984 high, employment will continue at a steady pace in these same areas and the health care, retailing and service sectors in the year ahead.

Businesses where white collar hiring may slacken, he says, include banking, financial services, high tech companies and troubled industries like steel and coal.

Youth wins Spirits bucks

Tony Racka, of Farmington Hills and junior at Farmington High School, is the first winner in the Detroit Spirits $500 Shoot Off.

On Jan. 13, Racka's Program Book lucky number was chosen and between the third and fourth quarters of the Detroit-Albuquerque game he was given the opportunity to shoot from half-court for the $500 grand prize.

Racka began his dribble at the end line and built momentum to shoot the ball high in the air — dead on target for the basket. The ball hit the backboard, rolled around the rim once and fell through.

When asked what he plans to do with his new found wealth, Racka said he plans to save the money.
