should not be as harmonious as the Farmington School Board. King also added that "public education has a monopoly on the tax dollar" and consequently the money should be used wisely and effectively and with more public input.

excellence in education should be of greatest concern to district taxpayers and the school board, she said. Although the district is considered excellent now, efforts must be made to continue the quality of programs, Brown added.

AL ZOLTON: Continuing "the effectiveness" of the current school board is of importance to Zoltan. The school board, he said, should strive to serve all residents and students of the district.

PAT GIBBACI: "I would like to see us continue to prepare our students for the future." Because society is constantly changing, Gibbaci said, the careers students are preparing for today may not exist when they graduate. And the careers which the students are unaware of today may be opportunities for them in the future, she said.

MAXINE HARWIN: "If we are staying the same, we're behind," she said, adding that the district must give students an opportunity to succeed and to keep pace with a changing world. Students must be challenged with excellent programs, she said. Harwin also supports passage of the district's ballot request for a renewal of four mills.

JACK COTTON: "I support very strongly the philosophical movement that is here — a comprehensive education." Cotton also supports the school board's attempts to maintain a fund equity equal to 5 percent of the operating budget. "It's important in planning," he added.

HELEN DITZHAZY: The candidate would like to see efforts made to use certain new instructional techniques based on current educational theory and research.

Humphries named GMI ambassador

Montie H. Humphries of Farmington Hills has been named an Alumni Ambassador for GMI Engineering & Management Institute in Flint. A 1970 electrical engineering graduate of GMI, Humphries is executive director-North American and Caribbean Operations of Motors Trading Corp.

"Our Alumni Ambassadors are outstanding business and civic leaders in their communities," William B. Collingham, president of GMI, said in making the appointment. "They will be instrumental in our efforts to recruit students and corporate sponsors and attract private support for GMI."

Chris Basso

Chris, 16, delivers the Observer in the Woodbrook subdivision. He has been delivering the Observer since October, 1983.

The North Farmington High School student's favorite subjects are math, wood shop and machine shop. His hobby is woodworking.

Chris placed second in regional and sixth place in state in the model division for a naval cannon in the Michigan Industrial Education Awards.

Managing accounts and keeping accurate records are two skills Chris feels he has acquired on his paper route. He likes the financial rewards and being able to earn his own money.

Chris is the son of Richard and Beverly Basso. He has one brother, Gregory, 10.

WHEN IS SURGERY NEEDED?
Probably you are aware of the development, over the last ten years, of practical artificial joints, particularly for the hip, knee and hand. You may have wondered why there isn't more use of these replacement joints for people with arthritis who don't respond to medicine?
One of the reasons is that joint replacement surgery can fail. At times, the artificial joint doesn't stay in place and can't take the stress the body puts upon it. The result for the patient is more pain and less mobility after surgery than before it was undertaken. Another problem is infection at the site of the surgery. This complication may necessitate removal of the artificial joint, an obviously undesirable result.
Because of these surgical hazards, your doctor likely will want to treat you medically for as long as possible. Surgery is indicated when joint use becomes too limited to be practical, or limb pain becomes too great to bear.

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA NEVER CHANGE. SOME DO.

U.S. Savings Bonds. Paying Better Than Ever.

Cable Cars. Back in 1872, they were called "Hallidie's folly." Today, they're one of San Francisco's top tourist attractions and America's only mobile historic monument.

Some things never change. But one great American tradition has changed—U.S. Savings Bonds. Now paying higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more, but never less than 7 1/2%. But some of the best things about Bonds haven't changed. The interest earned is still exempt from state and local income taxes. Still cost as little as $25. And can be purchased at almost any financial institution. Or easier yet, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Like the cable car, they're another part of our proud heritage.

For the current interest rate and more information, call toll-free U.S. SAVINGS BONDS 1-800-US-Bonds. Paying Better Than Ever Variable rates apply to bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least 5 years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/1/87. Bonds held less than 5 years earn lower interest. A public service of this publication.
