use some kind of a parking facility, more than what we've got. I also don't believe Farmington should let the discount shops take over.

Dorothy Siano and her partner recently took over Country Miniature store in the Village Mall. Although she is a newcomer to the area, Siano is pleased to see efforts being made at improving downtown Farmington.

"I'm really encouraged by that, instead of waiting 20 years and then saying 'Oops, we should have done that.' I am delighted to hear they're doing something."

Siano, a Westland resident, and her partner also own the Country Mouse in Wayne. Both stores specialize in dollhouses and dollhouse furnishings.

A variety of businesses are needed to keep a downtown healthy, Siano said.

"It takes a variety. I don't care why they show up, as long as they show up."

Edna Malotke would like to attract additional shoppers to her Kitchen Creations store in Farmington's Village Mall.
