

Gold Exchange

Youth from First Baptist Church of Farmington staged their first "Gold Exchange," here, and learned it paid to knock on doors asking to trade some small wooden chairs in not-so-good condition for something, anything, better. Going from house to house in the downtown Shiloh area and Farmington Road residential area, they returned with a gamut that ran from useable furniture to a kerosene heater. Tabi Laraway (above left), shows the ice cream mixer she brought back, with team members Regina Bradley, Denise Hoffman and Scott Mikel, who brought back a home-exercise bicycle. At right are Monica Rodriguez, Kelly Sickett, who brought back a pair of gerbils, Steve Crawford and Chad Duncan. Some of the items will help furnish the church's youth room. Others will be distributed to those who need them in the community.
