Irish fest coming up this weekend

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

If a summer getaway to Dublin, Ireland, sounds dandy but you just can't spare the cash, keep your chin up.
Murphy, McKinney, McCanham and Maguire, O'Halloran, O'Kennedy, Quinn and McGillicuddy will be on hand to put the lit of Irish laughter in your heart at Michigan's largest display of Irish culture Friday through Sunday at Livonia's Ford Field in County Wayne.

Rest up now for the 23rd Annual Detroit International Feis, a family-oriented spectacle featuring musicians, singers, dancers, and athletes at Livonia and Farmington roads, one-half mile north of the Jeffries Freeway.

"Nowhere else in the state of Michigan will you see so many performers in one place at the same time," said Irish-born Dan O'Kennedy, festival chairman.

"It is the purest form of Irish traditional music, song and dance. It is the next best thing to being in Ireland."

Highlighting the Feis will be 700 costumed competitors (musicians and dancers) from the United States, Canada and England; the North American Solo Dance Championship; $500 scholarship awards, and the Statue of Liberty Centennial Medalion Design competition.
Food, drinks and souvenirs as well as games for children will be available throughout the entertainment-studded weekend.

Kicking off Friday's main events at 8:30 p.m. will be musicians Charlie Taylor, Mike Hume and Mike Stypula, followed at 8:30 p.m. by the Fanore Traditional Music Group and Adult Ceili Dance Competition at 9:30 p.m.

A "seisun" of music, singing and dancing will wind up the evening.

SPECTATORS AT Saturday's 23rd annual Feis — the "centerpiece" of the three-day event — will be treated to hundreds of dance competitions beginning at 9 a.m.

Staged at 6 p.m. will be the North American Junior and Senior Ceili Band Championship Competition sponsored by Cornhaltas Ceoltóirí Eilreann (Association of Irish Musicians).

A 7 p.m. Mass will precede Saturday's "main feature" — the "Ceili" Ceili Band from Ireland headlined by all-Ireland fiddler Martin Hayes. An 8 p.m. Fanore concert will follow.

Next, Brian Donner and Henry McCanham are sure to bring dancers to their feet. At 10:30 p.m., musicians from Akron, Cleveland, Chicago, Montreal, Toronto, London and Dublin will play for Ceili and set dancers.

IRISH SPORTS enthusiasts will be treated at 2 p.m. Sunday to a "Father's Day Special" Gaelic football tournament. At 3 p.m., drama lovers may take in scenes from Brian Friel's "Translations" performed by actors from the Attie Theatre and Performance Network.

Also participating in the entertainment extravaganza will be stellar musicians Terry Murphy, Brendan McNulty, Terence McKinney, Tom O'Halloran, Ed McGillicuddy, Ray Maguire, Pete Quinn and others.

Sunday's 11 p.m. "Grand Finale" will see a multitude of musicians storm the stage, with the rest of the folks kicking up their heels performing reels, jigs and sets.

Greenfield Village Presents Another Blast From The Past.
For our Muzzle Loaders Festival, we've invited just the right people to recreate the atmosphere and action of the Civil War: 3,000 Yanks and Rebs. They'll be facing off once again with some cannon-firing competitions, target shooting contests, and cavalry charges. But you'll also get a bang out of their period costumes, their precise marching drills, and their military bands. So just call 271-1976 for more information. And then shoot on out to the great American museum that's also great fun.

Women look bad in classic drama

ease and confidence. But there are only about 40 good minutes here — 15 of them intermission.

This production was added on to the season at Troy. It seems that 60 hopefuls had tried out for the previous show. The players decided that if they were that many people interested in community theater it would find a vehicle to accommodate them. True, this calls for lots of women — 22 to fill 36 parts — but almost anything would have been better, women in drag if need be.

It is interesting to note that the Shaw Festival at Niagara-on-the-Lake in Ontario, Canada, is producing "The Women" from Friday, June 26, to Sunday, Sept. 22. It might be good to check the full schedule for this summer's other offerings. Also note that the Troy Players has scheduled four plays for next season.
