

Private Exhibition Opens Cranbrook Gallery Shows

Cranbrook Academy of Art galleries will inaugurate the fall exhibition season on Sept. 24 by presenting the private collection of Betty Parsons, New York critic, dealer, painter and patron of artistic talent.

While Mrs. Parsons' collection today numbers over 200 items, the Cranbrook presentation will show only 120 selected paintings, drawings and sculptures.

collection, Mrs. Parsons has never let her hand rule her heart. Taken as a whole, her collection reveals a truer history of the direct experience of the art of the period as it unfolded than the more hard-headed refined exhibitions presented in many museums.

PIANIST Mischa Dichter will open The University of Detroit's Town and Country celebrity series Saturday, Sept. 21, at 8:30 p.m. in the U-D Memorial Building on the McNichols Road campus.

ART HISTORIANS have declared that it is a simple fact that the extraordinary history of American post-World War II art was largely molded by the artist Mrs. Parsons whose to show on the walls of her gallery.

'CURTAIN GOING UP'

By WALLY ROBERTS

Late in the second act of the musical, "Maggie Flynn," premiering at the Flishe Theatre, the harassed performer exclaimed to Shirley Jones, the gallant heroine, "It's too late. Everything's going wrong."

NET SOMEWHERE in all that perplexing polypour, a good musical does exist. Like "Oliver," it has a group of engaging youngsters singing and dancing. While the songs are not as good as "Sound of Music" and "Oliver," there are three fairly decent tunes. "Beautiful Maggie
