Farmington Socially Speaking

By KATHY ZISKA, GR. 11251

Nova Scotia was the choice as a vacation spot for Ed and Marge Kustrom of Orchard Lake.

From all they've told us, it was truly a unique vacation with a trip to Pegg Cove in Lunenburg; the fishing canyons where fish are sorted, boned, packaged, frozen or whatever.

Outside of Lunenburg, they were taken to the shipbuilding area where the ship for the "Mutiny on the County" was built and also where some of the filming for the picture had taken place. In Halifax, they relaxed at the Citadel Inn which overlooks the harbor, forts and Citadel, which are all part of history.

DR. RICHARD RUEL'S family had an exciting summer spent on Mascoma Lake in New Hampshire.

Mrs. Ann Ruel and the children Suzanne (accompanied by her friend and guest for a month, Anne of Wayburn Avenue) Barbara Christine, Catherine, Richard Jr., Joseph Ellen and Michael left at the beginning of summer and returned with father, husband, Ruel, late August.

Anne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Butler of Lebanon, N.H. on Mascoma Lake, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Aug. 2. Ann, her brother and sister, tried to surprise their parents by re-enacting their original wedding of 50 years ago as closely as possible. There was a wedding breakfast in East Thetford with marvelous home cooking and hot from the oven baked goods.

In the afternoon, an open house at the Butler home had approximately 100 friends, acquaintances and relatives toast the celebrants.

Ann's sister, Lois and Leonard Johnston, have three children and they also live at Mascoma Lake while Ann's brother, George Butler, Jr., a concert organist of N. Weymouth, Mass., was in concert in Methuen, Mass., in the hall that was specially built for "The Great Organ," which includes its 500 pipes.

Ann accomplished organist must be invited to perform in concert on the very famous "Great Organ." Ann Ruel was most pleased to be able to see her brother perform. The hall has concerts all summer long where accomplished organists are invited to perform.

Dr. Ruel came up to be with his family the first of August, which proved to be an active busy time but also fun and relaxing. He had a chance to visit with his mother, Mrs. Ruth Wille of Lebanon, New Hampshire and his half-sister, Sandra, when they all made plans and accomplished a trip to the White Mountains.

ANOTHER TYPE of vacation was that of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dyingier of Ararat Street where they found Wales, Scotland and England was the place for them for over three weeks.

Accompanying the Dyingiers were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller of Grosse Pointe Woods. The two couples rented a Hillman's station wagon and toured the country. Three days were spent in Edinburgh, five days in London and all the other places in between. In London, they stayed at the Cavandish Hotel, opposite Marble Arch. The trip was a dream come true for the Dyingiers, who have been planning it for years. The trip was a dream come true for the Dyingiers, who have been planning it for years.

The road trip is the exciting and adventurous part of their trip where they were served a full English breakfast on five bone china and the full 18 piece place setting of silver which they felt was very luxurious. They made friends in this manner and have started to correspond with some.
