Church plans Bible school

"God's people pray" is the theme for vacation Bible school this year at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, on the corner of 12 Mile and New Market roads, just east of Farmington Road. The church will hold its vacation Bible school Wednesday, July 10, through Wednesday, July 17.

Children 4 years of age through the sixth grade are invited. The sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and will continue through noon.

Registration for vacation Bible school is now in progress. To register, call the church office at 555-3380. Registration may also be made at the church on Wednesday, July 10.

This year's program is coordinated by Betty Maris, who is assisted by a steering committee, whose members are taking responsibility for special areas and activities.

All students will participate in Bible stories, arts and crafts, music, recreation and worship.

One feature of the program this year will be a daily video presentation. Included among the activities will be a "space balloon launch," which will take place at 11 a.m. Friday, July 12. Each student will send off a message, with a prize given to the student whose balloon is returned from the farthest distance.

On Wednesday, July 17, the closing day of the church school activities, a celebration with a parade and picnic is planned.

The Rev. T. Richard Maris Sr., pastor of the congregation, will conduct daily chapel services and will participate in other phases of the program.

The offerings received will be directed to Lutheran World Relief for food to be distributed to the starving in Africa, and to the American Bible Society.

"I owe these people my life."

— Larry Peck

It was just last November that Larry Peck was admitted to our cardiac care unit for triple bypass surgery. But as soon as he stepped through our doors, St. Joseph Mercy's highly skilled professionals dedicated themselves to his total care. And within a few weeks after his surgery, Larry was on the road to a full recovery.

For many years, St. Joseph Mercy has offered a wide range of services for the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of heart disease. We stress personalized care, with a one-on-one relationship between patients and team members. Our cardiac rehabilitation program, for example, helps patients like Larry adjust to a new lifestyle and educates them in ways to reduce the risk of further heart disease.

Today, Larry Peck, a musician and photographer, is back in the mainstream of life. But he finds time to counsel other patients scheduled for cardiac surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, as a member of the Cardiac Connection Heart Club. Says Larry, "St. Joseph Mercy helped me through the most traumatic time of my life. This is my way of thanking all the people who cared so much for me."

For more information about joining the Cardiac Connection Heart Club or a referral to one of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's cardiologists, call 858-3162.
