Where would we be without volunteers? Our world would be much less enriched if the volunteer force were not to be as ready to serve. In general, many people, because of need or desire for monetary equivalence, want money or nothing. Guess what — there goes our grass-roots organizations.

Democracy is based upon this fundamental foundation. The willingness for those "special" people to do what needs to be done selflessly and with commitment.

Ab, this discussion is very relevant to "video" involvement for we have the marvelous opportunity to possibly reinstate the value in volunteering. We open our doors to whomever you are and enjoy and enhance your specialness, and can thank you for your time by teaching you new technical skills and a refreshing awareness of all that encompasses your world.

No, I do not believe that we will lose our volunteers for we are becoming too aware of the potential of our worth and thus will have a need to share it.

Therefore, share with us. Watch Channel 12.

Farmington-area small business invited to forum

Farmington-area small business owners can register for the White House Conference on Small Business forum Friday, Sept. 20, at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

"Small business is the backbone of Michigan's economy," said Jack L. Courtemanche, executive director of the conference.

"Approximately 99 percent of Michigan's businesses are small enterprises — from mom-and-pop grocery stores to travel agencies to auto parts suppliers. And we're looking forward to hearing from all of them," Courtemanche said.

The Blanchard administration has placed a high priority on small business and its importance to the Michigan economy. "On a state level, we have aggressively pursued legislation and programs which support small business. We welcome an opportunity to discuss the initiative needed on a national level," Gov. James Blanchard said.

"I URGE all small business people of Michigan to attend the White House Conference on Sept. 20 and to convey Michigan's recommendations for executive and congressional action needed to support the small business of our state."

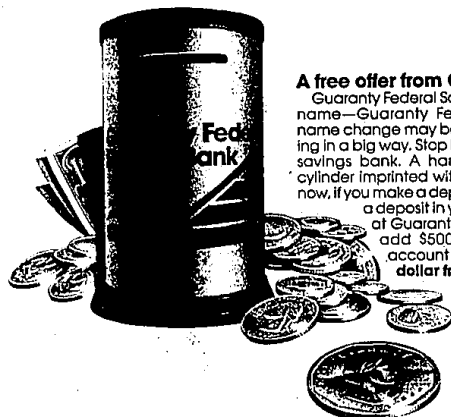

Registration for the Dearborn conference is 5-9 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 19, at the Hyatt Regency Dearborn and will continue at 7 a.m. Friday, Sept. 20.
