

Dinner of Champions

Robert Carlson (at left) receives congratulations from his friends Bill and JoAnn Caldwell, Glen and Sharon Hobart and Barbara Haleon, all of Farmington Hills, during Multiple Sclerosis Society's Dinner of Champions. Carlson, president of Crowley's, received the society's Silver

Hope Chest Award for philanthropic and civic contributions. Proceeds from the dinner will provide state funds for research, patient services and public education. More than 15,000 Michigan residents are affected with multiple sclerosis.

Three Flags DAR plans birthday lunch

Mrs. Morley Foster of Farmington will greet members and guest regents at the 40th birthday celebration of Three Flags Chapter, DAR.

Fifteen regents from neighboring chapters have been invited to a luncheon Monday, Oct. 28, in Birmingham Community House. The special guest will be Mrs. John Franklin Weaver Sr., Michigan state regent.

She was born in Illinois, attended schools there and then left for Beloit, Wis., for college. She received a bachelor of science degree. She also has secondary teaching and library science certificates.

Her DAR activities started long ago, in Illinois, and she had held many chapter and state positions before becoming a regent in April. She is a member of Nancy Dedrick Toll Chapter of Monroe, Mich., has served on several national committees, and is a member of the board of trustees of the two DAR-owned-and-operated schools: Tamassee in South Carolina and Kate Duncan Smith in Alabama.

Mrs. Weaver will be the speaker at the luncheon. Her topic is "Our Country's Emblem: The Great Seal of the United States of America."

Mrs. Foster is assisted by vice-regent Virginia Platter in planning the birthday celebration.

Middle East crises is topic for panel

"Lebanon, Israel, and the United States: Understanding the Middle East Crises" is the subject for a two-man panel discussion that begins at 7 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, in First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, on Farmington Road and 11 Mile. The program is offered free of charge co-sponsored by the local church and The Ecumenical Campus Center in Ann Arbor.

Dr. Hashid Bashabur, professor at University of Michigan, will speak on "Understanding Lebanon: Can the U.S.A. Be Helpful?"

The topic for Dr. Antony Sullivan, director of Near East Support Services, is "Israel and the Palestinians — An Update."

Bashabur is an American citizen, born in Safita, Syria, who studied sociology at American University of Beirut. Since 1983 he has held an appointment in the Department of Medical Care Organization, School of Public Health, at U-M. He also holds a standing appointment as visiting professor at his alma mater.

DURING 1982-83 he was adviser to the minister of health in Lebanon and was heavily involved in drafting the country's health legislation which forms the basis for the program of the ministry.

During that time he coordinated the health and living situation of Beirut's suburbs, a rapidly deteriorating area. Later he returned to teach primary health care at the American University and became a consultant to the minister of health.

Sullivan visited Israel and the occupied territories this summer and conversed extensively with college administrators regarding academic freedom, with Palestinian mayors of the West Bank cities, the Jewish, Muslim and Christian academics and political leaders regarding the current relations between Israel and the Palestinians and the prospects for the future.
