

Long t bars show high aspirations

Dear Lorene Green:
I am one of 12 sisters and brothers. Some of us have similar handwriting. It would be so interesting to hear of various traits in my life. All of us had the same kind, traditional upbringing. Thank you kindly.

M.C.,
Detroit

Dear M.C.:
As I consider the total picture of your handwriting, it seems that you have made some type of break with the past and have moved forward into a new lifestyle. This does not mean that you have jettisoned your traditional upbringing. Much of it is still meaningful to you and provides a feeling of security.

From very early in life you wanted to be independent. Those who knew you best may have viewed you as somewhat rebellious.

Aspirations are high and you can become enthusiastic about some of them. (long t bars and high upper loops). And persistence for the things that you wish to do is noted in your many tied t bars. Much of the time you operate in a speedy manner. Seemingly, the end result is more important than the method by which you obtain it. Carelessness in evidence suggesting slipshod methods. I suspect you frequently bang or

Students win in speech competition

Seven trophies were awarded to Orchard Ridge Campus speech students at the Michigan Community College Speech Contest in St. Clair County Community College.

First place in prose interpretation went to Tom Daugherty of Redford, with Dawn Holland of Farmington Hills in second place.

Lisa Confer of Northville won first place in poetry interpretation, and second place in the narrative speech category. Placing third in poetry interpretation was Martha Cox of Farmington Hills.

Khaled Hanna of Detroit won a second place trophy for his humorous speech, and came in third in impromptu writing.

Daugherty, Confer and Hanna are preparing for the community college regional tournament which will be held in Minnesota.

Health Camp opens door to new lifestyle

Arthur Weaver, professor of surgery at Wayne State University, and his Better Living Seminars, a non-profit health-related organization, will be hosting their annual Health Camp in Grayling May 18-26.

In a scenic 900-acre setting, one can take advantage of nature's beauty, recreation and health-restoring influences. Programs to be offered include a live-in Stop Smoking Clinic, Weight Control Seminar, Stress Management Seminar, and Creative-Cooking-Without-Meat classes. Other activities include canoeing, horseback riding, exercise classes, bird watching, ceramics, nature trails, health and lifestyle counseling. "Good Health," according to Dr. Weaver, "is more than the absence of discernible disease. It is a positive attitude and feeling of well being in the physical, mental, social and spiritual dimensions of life. It includes creativeness, enthusiasm about life, and a vibrant and active lifestyle."

The complete cost of the eight-day stay at the Health Camp is $235 per person or $495 per couple. Send for a free Health Camp brochure by writing Better Living Seminars, P.O. Box 574, Plymouth 48170.

Women professionals invited to 'Getaway'

The Troy Chapter of American Business Women's Association (ABWA) will sponsor its second annual "Professional Day Getaway" Saturday, March 22, in Michigan State University Management Education Center, 811 Square Lake Road, Troy.

The all-day event will begin with registration at 8 a.m. and is also open to professional women in surrounding communities.

The $35 fee includes morning and afternoon seminars, lunch and a fashion show coordinated by Casual Corners.

The agenda includes a session called "Discover Yourself," presented by Dr. Mary Lee Gentry, chairman of Troy Chamber of Commerce, and "Corporate Power for Women," presented by Dr. Patricia Bidol, project director and consultant for University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Dr. Sheila McKenzie, owner of Loving Health Chiropractic, talks about "Health and Fitness" and "Dottie Georges, owner and operator of Fitness Outreach Programs talks about "Fitting in Fitness."

"Wellness: Stress, Strain and the Human Brain" is the topic for Dr. Paul F. Pearsall of Sinai Hospital.

A brochure will be sent on request by calling Sheri Rourke, at 649-3400.

Registrations can be made by sending a check, payable to ABWA Troy Chapter, to Professional Day Getaway, in care of D.K.S. & S., 3001 W. Big Beaver, Suite 520, Troy, 48064 before March 14.

Art students invited to vie in competition

Deadline is Monday, March 3, for art students to enter the competition sponsored by Farmington Area Arts Commission. The competition is open to high school students who reside in Farmington or Farmington Hills. Original art in any media is welcome.

Official entry blanks are available in the mayor's office in Farmington Hills City Hall, Orchard Lake Road and 11 Mile.

The art works will be juried March

10 on the basis of originality, use of material and presentation.

Fern Barber and Robert Benjamin, members of the arts commission and co-chairs of the awards committee, will announce the winners at a reception Sunday, May 18, in Farmington Community Center.

Cash prizes of $300, $200, $100 and $50 will be given to first, second, third and honorable mention winners.
