

All-Area volleyball squad loaded with power hitters

Carol Hall, senior, Westland John Glenn. A .85 student, Hall helped Glenn to Western Lakes Division and Class A district titles this season.

She posted a 92 percent serving efficiency with 30 aces and made only 13 serve reception errors all season (an impressive statistic).

But she is at her best at the net. At 5-10, and possessing a 26-inch vertical jump, she was 90 percent effective at the net, killing 37 percent of her shots.

The three-year varsity player earned a spot on the first-team all-region squad this season.

Anne Terski, senior, Bishop Borgess: But Terski's contribution to Borgess' successful season should be given equal space with McDonald's. After all, it was Terski's job to get the ball to McDonald.

Borgess deploys a 5-1 formation on the court. As a result, a huge burden is placed on the shoulders of Terski, the team's lone setter. For two seasons, she handled the role flawlessly.

"She is one of the finest setters in Borgess history," Abraham said.

Terski accepted a full-ride volleyball scholarship from Hillsdale College.

By the way, her grade point average is 3.9.

Diana Swope, senior, Wayne Memorial: Very few people expected to see Wayne Memorial in the finals of the Schoolcraft Invitational this season. To get there, Wayne had to knock off the likes of Garden City and Walled Lake Western twice.

No problem. The team was eventually stepped by Stevenson, but not before Swope won the respect of coaches throughout Observerland. In fact, several coaches were shocked that Swope was left off Schoolcraft's all-tournament team.

She possesses tremendous quickness on the court and has an excellent vertical jump. She also packs a good deal of strength in her small body. Like the seven hitters mentioned previously, she had the ability to dominate a match.

GIRLS CAGE CAMP

Registration has begun for the 1986 Great Lakes Girls Basketball Day Camp, which will take place July 21-25 at Schoolcraft Community College in Livonia.

The camp, run by girls basketball scout Greg Kolb and Livonia Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh, costs $125 per player, which includes a T-shirt, basketball for each girl, a written evaluation, camp certificate, strong competition and instruction in basketball concepts.

"I found the talent level at the camp to be outstanding," said Bill White, coach at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. "As a former staff member of the Great Lakes camp, I know how truly valuable the experience is for any player that attends."

Added Tom Collen, coach at the University of Utah: "No one has done more for girls basketball in the state of Michigan than Greg Kolb."

The camp is attended by some of the best players in metro-Detroit. Players receive individual and group instruction from basketball experts on the finer points of passing, shooting, ballhandling and rebounding.

For more information, write to Greg Kolb at 8291 Woodcrest Drive Apt. 3, Westland 48185.

RUNS SCHEDULED

More than 200 runners are expected to compete in a five-kilometer race — the fourth annual University of Detroit-Chrysler Laser Spring Run — which takes place 10:30 a.m. Sunday, April 6. The race will begin in front of U-D at 651 East Jefferson, and will wind through Detroit and finish at the campus. Runners in eight different categories will be competing for Laser trophies, jackets, gift certificates and more. Categories are 15 and under, 16-20, 21-29, and 30 and over in male and female classifications.

The Spring Run is a fund-raising event to support the U-D Evening College of Business and Administration Student Fund. Entry fees are $4 for 17 and under, and $8 for adults. For more information, call Nettle Knisel at 927-1501.
