

Proposition C
Hit By Kadish

Paul Kadish, Democratic candidate in the 14th State Senate District, has denounced Proposition C, the so-called anti-parochialism amendment on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Kadish, a Livonia insurance man, spoke in a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Badaluts in West Bloomfield Township last week.

Although he opposes direct financial aid to private schools, Kadish nevertheless denounced Proposition C as "a measure that would not only hurt the private and parochial schools in Michigan but could create serious problems for the public schools."

He added:

"THE AMENDMENT as now proposed would not only make direct aid illegal, but could also take away existing services such as crossing guards, shared learning programs, as well as other programs that have been in effect for years."

"As I read the amendment, I am convinced that passage could mean an early closing of a large number of both private and parochial schools, with the result being a large influx of students into the public schools throughout the State."

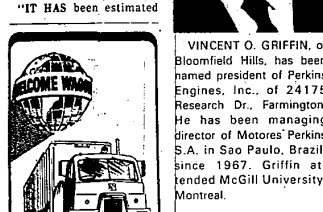

"I do not believe that our public school systems, almost all of which are already on the brink of bankruptcy, can afford to continue to provide a 'quality education' and at the same time provide for an influx of many thousands of additional students within the next year."

"IT HAS been estimated that the increased costs to the public school systems in Michigan could be over $200 million dollars in the 1971-72 school year if this amendment were to pass. I don't think the homeowners of this state, who are already overtaxed and who have demonstrated that they will not support increased millage and bond proposals for the schools, are willing to cough up the extra $200 million that may be necessary if this Amendment passes.

"Until the entire tax structure in Michigan is overhauled to include an income tax based on ability to pay," the public schools will continue to be hard-pressed to provide the kind of education we would all like to see."

"It is for these reasons that I urge the voters, whether they be for or against direct financial aid to the private and parochial schools, (parochial) to vote 'no' on Proposition C."

VINCENT O. GRIFFIN, of Bloomfield Hills, has been named President of Perkins Engines, Inc., of 24175 Research Dr., Farmington. He has been managing director of Perkins S.A. in Sao Paulo, Brazil, since 1967. Griffin attended McGill University, Montreal.

Public Hearing
Set On Stadium

Plans for a domed sports stadium on Detroit's riverfront have taken an important step forward with approval of a five-member stadium authority board by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners also decided to join the Detroit Common Council in holding a public hearing on the proposed stadium. The hearing is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 9 in the City-County Building auditorium. A number of homeowner groups have requested a hearing.

"This is the big day for us," declared Robert L. Swenay, executive director of the Downtown Stadium Working Group, following confirmation of the authority appointments by the Board of Commissioners Oct. 2.

Swenay said the authority board's first tasks will be to assemble financing for the $100 million project and to begin receiving proposals from architects.

The authority appointments were made by County Board Chairman Albert J. Zak, with Detroit Mayor Roman S. Gribbs submitting two of the five names to Zak. Approval by a majority of commissioners was required.

OTHER MAJOR actions of the Board of Commissioners concerned welfare, possibly merger of the Detroit and Wayne County health departments, expansion of the county human relations staff, filling of a board vacancy, and modernization of record-keeping at the county jail.

The board approved the expenditure of an additional $9,986,000 for welfare assistance this year — an outlay necessitated by a sharp increase in unemployment. All but $145,000 of the outlay will be reimbursed by the state.

In a related action, the board adopted a resolution calling for a meeting with top state officials to try to resolve the long-running conflict with the state over the responsibility for emergency grants to welfare recipients.

The resolution calls for a meeting "within 30 days" with Gov. William Milliken, his Democratic opponent, State Sen. Sander Levin; both parties' leaders in the State Legislature; the state social services director; and representatives of other urban counties.

HOWEVER, one commissioner declared his intention to demand reconsideration of the resolution, which would delay action until the next board meeting Oct. 15.
