

The new circle-top window is designed to complement its other window styles.

Window style goes round in half-circle

For homeowners who like the look of circles as well as the usual squares or rectangles in their windows, Andersen Corp. of Bayport, Minn., has what you're looking for.

Its new Perma-Shield circle-top window, available in white or Terratone color, is designed to complement Andersen casement, Narroline double-hung and awning windows. Like other Perma-Shield windows, the circle-top unit combines good looks with durability and easy care.

The new circle-top units are designed to fit above casement windows ranging in size from just over 2 feet wide to more than 4½-feet wide; double hung units from slightly more than 2 feet wide to nearly 3½-feet wide; and awning windows just over 2 feet wide to 4 feet in width.

THE CIRCLE-TOP windows are manufactured of laminated white maple with all exterior surfaces covered by a thick sheath of Perma-Shield vinyl. Two different profiles make them compatible with the casement, awning and Narroline double-hung windows they are used with.

They can be glazed with Andersen's high-performance insulating glass, high-performance-sun insulating glass or clear double-pane insulating glass.

Sunburst vinyl grilles are available with the circle-top units along with colonial or ranch casing for either the casement or double-hung windows. The interior surface of the grilles can be stained or painted to match various types of wood surfaces.

For additional information on the new Perma-Shield circle-top window as well as other windows and patio doors, write to Andersen Corp., Bayport, Minn. 55003.
