

Jones-Fairley Vows Spoken

The First Presbyterian Church of Albion was the setting for the wedding of Martha Elizabeth Fairley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fairley of Albion and David Lawrence Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones of Priscilla Lane, Plymouth.

The Rev. Fred Cunningham officiated for the afternoon double-ring nuptials.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a silk organza gown with full sleeves, chapel train and veil. A lace camellia cap held her triple-tiered veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Janet Fairley was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Geoff Smith, sister of the bridegroom, Lee Morrison of Annapolis, Md., Barbara Matzner of Saginaw and Kristen Wolfram of Albion.

They wore empire gowns of Nile green chiffon trimmed with green and yellow and carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and white carnations.

Flower girl Jacqueline Jones, sister of the bridegroom, wore a Nile green dress and carried a basket of yellow roses and white carnation petals.

MRS. DAVID JONES
(Martha Elizabeth Fairley)

GEOFF SMITH of East Lansing was best man for his brother-in-law. Guest of honor was Richard Wagar of Plymouth and John Russell of Traverse City. James Jones of Dearborn and Mark Gilbert of Albion were ushers.

The bride's mother chose a pink sheath jacket dress with silver and pink braid trim and Mrs. Jones wore a turquoise coat and dress ensemble.

Among guests at the wedding and the reception at Albion's Holiday Inn were Mrs. B. J. Abbott of Albion, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harrison of Detroit and Mrs. Henry Witte of Port Lauderdale, grandparents of the bridegroom.

The couple went to the Bahamas for their honeymoon and will live in East Lansing.

The new Mrs. Jones is a student at Michigan State University, where she is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority. She will intern this fall at the Michigan School for the Blind. Her husband, a Plymouth High School and MSU graduate, is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity and employed by Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Bridal Gown Handmade

Wearing a satin and lace dress she made by hand, Carol Clark became the bride of Donald Gardner in a double-ring ceremony recently in the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Dr. Henry Walch officiated and a reception in Gourmet Hall, Westland, followed the rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert N. Clark of Napier Road, Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Loral Gardner of Jedd, Mich., are parents of the couple.

The bride's A-line gown featured leg-of-mutton sleeves and lace applique on the bodice. She wore a diamond necklace, and her shoulder-length veil was secured by a flower headpiece. Her flowers were yellow and white roses.

Her attendants all wore white and aqua shantung gowns they made for themselves and carried yellow marguerites in baskets, fashioned by the bride.

Elizabeth Woehle of Livonia was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mary Dunn of Harper Woods and Mary Fink of Evansville, Ind.

Flower girl Sally Schlie, the bride's cousin, wore a white dress and aqua sash made by the bride's mother.

Ken Gardner of Port Huron, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Mory Williamson and Lee Davis III, both of Port Huron. The couple went to Mackinac Island and the Upper Peninsula for their honeymoon. They will live in Lansing, where the bridegroom is completing work on a marketing degree from Michigan State University and the bride is in her second year of teaching third grade.
