Technology Service Center Is Opened

The Bendix Commercial Service Corp. has opened a service center in Farmington, offering area industry, business and medical institutions specialized maintenance and repair programs for equipment requiring highly-trained technical service specialists.

Announcement of the opening of the center at 2585 Freeway Park Drive was made by E. Grogan Shelor, president of Bendix Commercial Service, a subsidiary of the Bendix Corp., Southfield.

Shelor reported the Farmington service center is the fourth to be established in the United States by Bendix Commercial Service. Others are located in Beltsville, Md.; Chicago, and Burbank, Calif.

Each center can provide engineered programs for safety inspection, calibration, maintenance and repair of complex electronic and electromechanical equipment, in addition to 24-hour emergency call service.

THREE HOSPITALS in Detroit, seven in Chicago and 14 in the Baltimore-Washington, D.C., area are under contract with Bendix to provide such services.

In addition to providing engineered maintenance and repair programs for medical equipment, industrial controls and test equipment, Bendix trains service specialists and technicians for other companies.

ROBERT E. JAMES, of West Bloomfield Township, has been appointed manager of the Wedgwood Commons Community, Farmington and 1 1/2 Mile Rds., Farmington, for Thompson-Brown Co. James assumes responsibility for new home sales in the 139-site development.
