Woman desires to be optimistic

Dear Lorene:

I read your column every week and I find it very interesting. In the past I have had my tarot cards read and am curious to find if handwriting analysis will tell me the same thing about myself. I write with my right hand. I am 20 years old.

S.S., Livonia

Dear S.S.:

Upon first observation, your lines, with their marked upslope, suggest optimism. But, on closer study, I find mood swings are also here. So I have to believe that while you might want to view the world with rose-colored glasses, this is not always easy for you to accomplish.

In your interpersonal relationships you want to be understood and you seek to put your best foot forward. You may come on a little strong to make a favorable impression.

Most of your goals or projects are set at a practical level and do not involve a high degree of challenge.

I read your column and I find it very interesting. I have had my tarot cards read and am curious to find if handwriting analysis will tell me the same thing about myself. I write with my right hand. I am 20 years old.

YOU ARE rather independent and have a direct approach to life and living. You have learned to use your time effectively and can get right at a task without too much fanfare. Separating the important from the nonessential comes naturally. And once a decision is made you want to move right on to the next item.

So the tad of procrastination I find in your handwriting tells me you may be putting off until another time something you could be doing now.

Your mind is curious, and you like to explore new things. Not inclined to accept things at face value, you must analyze what you have learned or heard.

You are good with words and probably express yourself well. But may also be a little too direct for some people.

FRUSTRATION and feelings of insecurity, are also noted in your handwriting and may place limits on your self-confidence.

You seem to be aware of the beauty of nature.

Incidentally, graphology cannot predict the future. It is a picture of the writer's personality at the time of writing and can be most helpful in terms of understanding one's self. A more definitive personality portrait would require a longer sample of handwriting.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed through this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful.

The congregations of Farmington Hills Christian Center, affiliated with Assemblies of God, and Harvest Temple Worship Center, affiliated with Church of God, are now sharing the same building at 23233 Drake.

The building is owned by Farmington Hills Christian Center whose members are giving space to Harvest Temple members while they are in the planning stages of building their own church on seven acres of land they have purchased on Power, between Nine and 10 Mile Road.

The two congregations have just recently shared in sponsoring a week of revival services.

Pastor Mitchell Maloney of Harvest Temple leads a 10:15 a.m. Sunday worship service while Sunday School is in progress for Farmington Hills Christian congregation. The process is reversed when Pastor Kenneth Norcross leads the 11:15 a.m. worship service for Farmington Hills Christian Temple members.

Pastors Maloney and Norcross alternate leading the 8:30 p.m. Sunday services.

ACTIVITIES AND ARTHRITIS

Individuals often ask me if having arthritis means: "that I have to give up my activities?" The person is worried that he or she will have to forgo recreation such as walking, bowling, golf, swimming, or cycling.

Such activities are vital for one's physical and mental health, and for these reasons alone should not be abandoned.

Examining a patient in the office or bedside only provides the physician with a look at the individual at one time; no estimation of future impairment or present limitation of activity is not possible. Only the person's experience while undertaking walking, bowling, golf, etc. will answer this question.

Also, there is no verified connection between activity and progression of arthritis. The reason is that joint irritation causes the individual sufficient discomfort to dissuade attempts at exercise more intense than he or she can tolerate.

How much should a person with arthritis undertake? He or she should carry on until pain from the arthritis tells them to stop.
