Love yourself

Author of 'You Can Heal Your Life' lays down the guidelines

Louise Hay, author of "Heal Your Life." will be in the Detroit area through Sunday, June 11-14, for a "Love Yourself-Heal Your Life" lecture and workshop. The metaphysical counselor will in Smith Theater, Orchard Ridge Campus, Oakland Community College, Her workshop will run from 9 am. to 6 pm. June 11-41 in Fairlam Manor, 19000 Hubbard Drive, Dearborn. Hay's philosophy is stated stimply

Hay's philosophy is stated simply ad clearly in the beginning of her and cleary in the book:

"We are each 100 percent responsible for all of our experiences, Every thought we think is creating our future. The point of power is in the present moment,
"When we really love ourselves,

The book is filled with what the author calls "loving treatments" and includes a reference guide of the mental causes for physical diseases and environmental disharmony. "Using the affirmations and saying the treatments daily can change even the most ardent disbellever into an awakener of his or her own self-life and self-worth," she says.

HAY IS QUICK to counter anyone who refers to her as a healer.
"I do not heal anyone," she said. "I teach people to love themselves and as they learn to love and appreciate who they are, wonderful changes oc-pear."

Hay completed ministerial training with Church of Religious Science and holds a doctor of divinity degree from Science of Mind College. She has participated in numerous Yew Age's chools of thought, such as Menial Dynamics, Silva Mind Control, Loving Relationships Training, Rebirthing, est.Insight, SCI, Gestalt Synergy, and was a student of TM (Transcendental Meditation) at Maharishis' International University.

Maharishis' International University.

Her work as a practitioner and minister began about 16 years ago with terminally ill patients, alcoholics and the gay community.

In 1976 she wrote "Heal Your Body," with lists 150 mental Causes for physical illnesses and describes metaphysical, ways to overcome them. The book is now in its fourth, revised, unfulfag.

them. The book is now in its fourth, recked, printing.

In 1984, she wrote "You Can Heal Your Life," which is a complation of the methods she teaches in her workshops. The book tells how beliefs and ideas about oneself are the cause of 'dis-ease,' and how by using affirmations, visualizations, meditation, forgiveness exercises and an exercise called 'mirror work', one's thinking and one's life will change.

HAY'S SHARES her guidelines for "How To Love Yourself."

STOP ALL CRITICISM. Criti-cism never changes a thing. Refuse to criticiar yourself. Accept, yourself exactly as you are. Everybody changes. When you criticize yourself, your changes are negative. When you approve of yourself, your changes are positive.

 DON'T SCARE YOURSELF.
 Stop terrorizing yourself with your thoughts. It's a dreadful way to live.
 Find a mental image that gives you pleasure (mine is yellow roses), immediately switch your s thought to a pleasure thought.

• BE GENTLE, KIND AND PA-TIENT. BE GENTLE, KIND AND FA-TIENT. Be gentle with yourself. Be kind to yourself. Be patient with yourself as you learn the new ways of thinking. Treat yourself as you would someone you really love.

BE KIND TO YOUR MIND. Self hatred is only hating your own thoughts. Don't hate yourself for having the thoughts. Gently change your thoughts.

PRAISE YOURSELF. Criti-cism breaks down the inner spirit.
 Praise builds it up. Praise yourself as much as you can. Tell yourself how well you are doing with every little thing.

SUPPORT YOURSELF. Find ways to support yourself. Reach out to friends and allow them to help you. It is being strong to ask for help when you need it.

• BE LOVING TO YOUR NEGA-TIVES. Acknowledge that you creat-ed them to fulfill a need. Now you are finding new, positive ways to ful-fill those needs, So lovingly release the old negative patterns.

· TAKE CARE OF YOUR BODY. • TAKE CARE OF YOUR BODY. Learn about nutrition. Learn what kind of fuel your body needs to have optimum energy and vitality. Learn about exercise. Learn what kind of exercise you can enjoy. Cherish and revere the temple you live in.

· MIRROR WORK, Look into

The longer I stay in Sarasota, home to so many Florida retirees, the more I am amazed at the variety of volunteer opportunities they find. It was just weeks after Joe and I strived here that I met Ellinore, who that come with her husband about the same time. She already was volunteering at the Senior Friendship Center one morning a week, handing a hand at a school for retarded children.

I soon learned that Elinore has a great deal of company.
In the condominium where we tive, I've known for a while about Florence, who does Braille traseribing, and Sally, who has taught English to newcomers from other countries. Also Connie, who spends each Monday morning as a hospital ylounteer. Recently I learned that yloun, earother neighbor, helps at the nearby library each Friday afternoon.

THROUGH CHURCH I've met folks active in a charity organization that serves many migrant families, and others who do their thing prebaring meals for shut-ins and delivering them. Then there is Louise in one church and Shelly in another, both of whom volunteer their services turning big displays of altar flowers into a dozen or so small bounces. flowers into a dozen or so small bou-quets for nursing home residents. They deliver them too. Mary is an tife editor for other nursing home visitor — she goes to play the piano for sing-alongs. - Several of my Iriends in the Amer-ment Memos.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER occa-sionally publishes a listing of volun-teer opportunities, noting people are needed to type, fix things and pro-vide all sorts of services.

That was the starting point for Muriel and Mariatta, a couple of other super-volunteers I have met. Muriel was asked to screen volun-teers for assorted needs. In doing so, she assigned herself to quite a few tasks. "I thought I should know was used involved," she explained, and she has just kept going in several volunteer posts.

A retired school guidance counselor, she's now trying to work into her schedule a request from the school district for volunteer counseling. Around here, there's no reason for any retiree to be bored. I know that's true where I came from, too, and I suspect it's true anywhere one might retire.

Teleconference focus is on evangelization

An estimated 60,000 Catholic latty, religious and clergy are expected to participate in Penteccost '87, a one-day national teleconference on evangelization, to be aired from 10:45 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, June 6

Locally it is expected that 2,000 will take part from the 27 vicariate teleconferencing sites in the Arthdiocese of Detroit.

The day will consist of video presentations, major talks presented via satellite, prayer and local on-site discussion. It will begin with a presentation by Archbishop Edmund C. Szoka.

zoka. Evangelization is defined as proclaiming the Gospel in order to bring others to Christ and His Church. The Rev. Edward Farrell, the Archbishop's representative for evangeliza-tion, notes that over the past 20 years, it has come to be thought of as "not as a specilized ministry, but the common call of every Catholic."

Pentecost '87 will focus on five areas of evangelization: active Catholics, inactive Catholics, ecumenical relationships, non-Christians and the unchurched.

According to James Murphy, di-rector of the Detroit Catholic Char-ismatic Renewal Center, the inac-tive Catholics group is "bigger than any active Protestant denomina-tion," but, he notes, "evangelization must also reach out to those active in Catholicism and the unchurched, who have no connection with Chris-tian faith."

ARCHBISHOP Szoka has written to the pastors of the archdiocese requesting they make plans to include participation from their parishes at Pentecost '87' teleconference. Farbentecost '87' teleconference. Farbent
