FUN ON STAGE — A delightful comedy poking fun at the weaknesses and errors of the people of the 17th century is on stage Nov. 6-7 and Nov. 13-14 at North Farmington High School. The play is Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid," with Michael Kaplan (left) playing the lead role of Argan, a gentleman who is the worst of hypochondriacs, and Jeff Osterhage in the role of Cleante, a lad who overcomes all obstacles to marry Argan's daughter. Curtain time for the production, performed by the North Farmington Players, is 8 p.m. sharp. (Evert photo)

Farmington Socially Speaking

By KATHY ZISKA GR. 4-7261

The bunch from Colony Park 1 got started late, as they do each year on Halloween night, so they can pass out the treats to the little goblins.

Around 10:30 p.m. is their bewitching hour and they stay bewitched until the wee hours of the morning. They all meet at one home, have snack-type food, cheese and crackers, nuts, chips and dip, hors d'oeuvres and cocktails.

A short time and they all go on to another host's home that is in the group and so on throughout the evening.

THIS GROUP by the way, is the same gay bunch that decorates the tall fir tree in the Colony Park street parkway on the Fourth of July into a Christmas tree.

Included in the wandering goblins were: Mary and Andy Anderson; Bob and Joan Bostedor; Jack and Bea Clayton; Jetty and Rita Cutcher; Bob and Ann Worpell; Lee and Shirley Seymour; Tom and Mary Lou Perriss; Jim and Ronnie Laatsch; Jim and Chris Dillo; and Marion and Al Cepnik.

Some of the above goblins carried signs for there will be an election in Colony Park (for one representative from Area 1, a representative from Area 2 and representative from Area 3) for the purpose of nominating people for Board of Directors for the Colony Park Civic Association. The signs they carried were all for John Rodewig as candidate for Area 1 and even his opponent, Bob Worpell is giving his vote to John.

So! instead of painting windows with soap on Halloween, they painted signs for an election on the signs they carried. Some of them were quite ingenious like "Colony Park Needs a John" and others equally as clever.

THE HALLOWEEN party ended up at John and Bea Clayton's home at about 2 a.m. with an Italian dinner.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rickey on Leyte were: Faith Rickey's mother, Mrs. Frank Kemp of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Faith's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Kemp of Omaha, Neb.

Faith, by the way, is recuperating from surgery on her hand, where she had a cyst removed from a tendon, so you might want to send her a sunshine card.

The St. Fabian Women's Council will hold its Rummage Sale Nov. 7.

Lighter-colored hair is more flattering to older skin — softens features, calls less attention to lines.

For healthy, straight shoulders: lie back on floor, knees up, arms extended outward. Bend elbows and clench fists, pushing elbows hard against floor. Hold for 10 counts.

Good dry shampoo when you have sniftles: sprinkle in cup cornstarch on hair, rub through strands to scalp. Comb out onto newspaper with medium-wide comb.

Don't diet too much — underweight capes dull lifeless hair, skin and eyes.

Famous actresses used to rub castor oil on face and neck every day to keep away wrinkles.
