Oakland Boards To Meet

Ways of finding public attitude and the level of understanding about schools will be the topic of the Oakland County School Boards Association meeting at South Lyon High School Thursday, November 20.

The 198-member association will hear Mrs. Polly Carithers, director of public information of Oakland Schools, describe Inforet, an information return system developed to provide school boards an economical method of surveying communities each month.

"A Board Member's Reasons for Surveying" will be presented by Mrs. Alice M. Davies, member of the Huron Valley Board of Education. Paul Liddicoat, superintendent of Troy City Schools, will outline what the top administrators need to know about attitudes and opinions of voters and parents in his head district.

The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. South Lyon High School is located at Nine Mile Road and Pontiac Trail.

In-Service Day Nov. 17 At Cville

Clarenceville School District will hold its second in-service education day of this school year on Tuesday, Nov. 17.

Students will be dismissed as follows: Grandview and Westbrook schools, 11:15 a.m.; Botsford, 11:30 a.m.; Edgewood, 11:35 a.m.; senior high, 11:55 a.m.; junior high, 12:15 p.m.

The elementary staff will devote the afternoon to continued study in the areas K-1 reading, K-6 mathematics and social studies revisions as well as coordination and program improvement in the areas of art, music and physical education.

The secondary schools will continue their comprehensive curriculum studies by department as well as continue preparations for North Central Accreditation.

The special education department will meet as a unit to continue its efforts in the development of a total school curriculum progression for students in that area as well as to seek methods for improved coordination with the other classroom teachers.
