

police/fire calls

Listed below are some of the Farmington-area police incidents, fire calls and court cases from the past week:

● STATION ROBBED
A hooded gunman robbed the Union 76 at 2363 Farmington Road Thursday. An undetermined amount of money was taken.

According to a Farmington Hills police report:
A man wearing a blue hooded sweatshirt and brandishing a small-caliber revolver wrapped in a blue bandana approached the counter at 5:15 p.m. and demanded money from an attendant.

After the attendant complied, the gunman left, knocking over a customer on the way in. The gunman, thought to be in his early 20s, was last seen running from the station.

● ARSON SUSPECTED
An early Friday morning fire at a Ziebart rust-proofing franchise on Eight Mile is being investigated as an arson.

The fire was reported shortly after 5 a.m. and was under control within 30 minutes, according to Peter Baldwin, deputy fire chief for Farmington Hills.

A damage estimate was not available, but Baldwin said there was no damage to the structure and smoke damage to five cars stored in the building. The business was closed.

Friday and a spokesman said it would probably not reopen until midweek.

Later that morning, Farmington Hills firefighters were called to a fire at a portable storage room behind the Duncker Middle School on 12 Mile. Baldwin said an electrical short apparently caused the fire shortly before 11 a.m.

He said there was about $2,000 in damage.

● MARIJUANA SEIZED

Police seized four pounds of marijuana, with a street value of $3,500, during a raid on a Farmington Hills house Sept. 29.

Officers also seized drug paraphernalia, three rifles, three handguns and $325 in cash.

District Judge Margaret Schaeffer of Farmington signed a search warrant after officers received an anonymous tip, said Sgt. Charles Nebus of the Farmington Hills Police Department.

Police plan to seek warrants against two residents in connection with the raid. They are withholding the names of the suspects and the location of the raid pending issuance of warrants.

● MAN CHARGED

A 20-year-old Westland man has been charged with carrying a concealed .38-caliber revolver and possessing cocaine in Farmington.

He faces up to five years in prison if convicted on the first count and up to four years if convicted on the second count.

The charges followed a traffic stop on Grand River near Money at 4:50 a.m. Oct. 1. A handgun and a vial of cocaine were confiscated, according to a Farmington Department of Public Safety report.

Hills joining forces to get census funds

FARMINGTON HILLS officials were told from the start that the population increases would not be certified in time to qualify for additional payments this year. That's not the case with the future expected payments, Costick said.

"We acted in good faith, we qualified. We feel we should be treated in good faith as communities were in the mid-'60s," he said. Communities that experienced population growth of at least 15 percent in the 1970s received supplemental payments.

Costick will ask the Farmington Hills City Council at the next regular meeting, Monday, Oct. 12, to adopt a resolution urging the governor to "acknowledge future payments."

West Bloomfield officials already received a reply to a resolution they sent to Lansing in August. It wasn't promising.

"As you know the governor has dedicated his administration to rebuilding and maintaining fiscal integrity. Given that commitment, he was forced to take some unpleasant actions and reduce over $100 million of appropriations," according to the response from the governor's office.

"We would be willing to take a proportional cut," Costick said.

MOST OF THE communities would have used the additional payments for capital improvements. In Farmington Hills, the money probably would be used to build a fire station, to buy fire equipment and for road improvements.

"Of course, you can't spend the money you don't have," Costick said. Farmington Hills officials budgeted the minimum $50,000 (excluding administrative costs) census costs and are not waiting for the additional state shared revenues to recoup that money. In the worst case scenario, the governor may decide to only reimburse the communities for their census costs, Costick said.

The mid-decade census documented that the city's 1980 population of 58,056 increased to 68,020. To qualify for increased revenues and liquor licenses, the city's population had to increase to at least 66,764.

In 1987-88, Farmington Hills expects to receive $3.4 million in state shared revenues, exclusive of the supplemental census revenues. State shared revenues represent 16 percent of the city's current $21.4 million budget.

It's uncertain how any additional liquor licenses will be affected. The city now has 30 liquor licenses.
