Dominic Rompollo makes visit

GLAMORAMA was certainly the correct word for it. Glamorous fashions by Dominic Rompollo. Glamorous gifts to shop for in glamorous boutiques. Glamorous dancers draped with glamorous jewelry from Tappers. Glamorous eye glasses from D.O.C. Boutique. And more glamor from David R Classic Man and Bricker-Tunis Furs.

Glamorous Tamara furnished the makeup and Mario Max furnished the glamorous hair styles. Glamorous prizes were won — one, a glamorous evening ensemble from Dominic Rompollo. The glamorous show was put together by Leah Marx.

Richard Fredricks, baritone from the Metropolitan Opera now playing the lead role in "Man of La Mancha" at the Fisher, sang to his glamorous audience, made up of 700 who gathered in Adat Shalom to benefit City of Hope.

The grand finale was the appearance of Dominic Rompollo, the man who dressed Rosalynn Carter for her inaugural walk down Pennsylvania Avenue.

After Jackie Kennedy's penchant for European designers, the American fashion industry was happy to learn that the new First Lady's choice for a designer was born in Detroit, Michigan, USA.

"SHE WAS EASY to dress," Rompollo said of the former First Lady. "Great little figure. A perfect size six."

Rompollo's clothes can best be described as classic, practical, timeless and elegant. They are not trendy. When the mini-skirts made a comeback, Rompollo offered a shorter, modified length.

Probably the most outstanding character of Rompollo's clothes is that they are for everybody. Any piece in the collection could be suitable for the entire age range of a woman's life.

After the preview showing for City of Hope supporters, Rompollo and the collection moved to Bettina's so her clients could meet the designer the next day. The clothes can now be

City of Hope is a complex in Duarte, Calif., dedicated to patient care, research and medical education in cancer and other catastrophic diseases.

It offers personalized care at no cost. It subscribes to the principle that no patient can devote the energies needed to recover from a major disease if he or she is devastated by medical bills. No patient has ever paid a bill at City of Hope.

It is supported by government personnel, unions, industry associations, individual gifts and chartered chapters across the nation.

"Glamorama" was sponsored by the chartered Helen Rosenberg Chapter, City of Hope. Guests learned about current pilot research, medical firsts, and celebrated in the new accomplishments in the fight against cancer, Alzheimer's, epilepsy, and bone marrow transplants.

And still more glamor. . . .
